Hungry Cleveland Reliefers Promised Aid

MAYOR READY TO 'DESTROY' CITY SERVICES

Shouting Jobless, Massed at City Hall, Told They Come First.

THREAT CALLED 'ANARCHY'

Unemployed Say They'll Get Food 'On Own Authority' If Officials Delay.

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND — Mayor Harold H. Burton was ready today to "destroy" this city's regular services to feed hungry reliefers, who have threatened to obtain food "on our own authority."

"Relief comes ahead of every obligation," Burton told 1,000 shouting jobless last night as they stormed city hall to demand that the city take immediate steps to restore curtailed relief.

Answering their threat "to feed ourselves," Burton retorted sharply:

"That is anarchy. That must not be permitted in America and will not be permitted in Cleveland. We have been meeting this relief situation, and we will meet it."

C. B. Cowan, head of an association of unemployed, demanded that city council restore regular relief orders, drastically slashed because of dwindling funds.

With approximately 70,000 on relief, the city has lopped off the rolls employables without dependents and sliced benefits to others.

Yesterday three relief stations were closed temporarily when crowds jammed into the buildings. Some of those cut off relief told reporters they had been without food for two days.

Cites Tax 'Surplus.'

Burton placed responsibility for the crisis on the state. He has tried unsuccessfully to get Gov. John W. Bricker to call a special session of the legislature to consider the relief problem.

"We know perfectly well there is a surplus of states taxes being collected," the mayor said, "and we advocated the legislature be recalled to act on the case. If this is not done, I believe the city faces the necessity of destroying its city services. If it is necessary, that will be done."

Receives Fourth Blood Transfusion In Fight For Life

Still fighting for his life today in General hospital, Francis Leemaster, 29, of Shelby, received his fourth blood transfusion as medical science fought to overcome his injuries which include a severed windpipe, three fractures and lacerations.

Leemaster, a driver for the West Dry Cleaning company, has been given a "fair" chance to live by his physician. He was hurt last Friday evening when his truck collided with another on route 39 as he was enroute to his home in Shelby. He has been breathing through a tube in his throat since he was taken to the hospital.

The six-inch cut in his throat severed the vocal cords as well as the windpipe and it is doubtful if he will be able to speak again if he recovers.

New Schools To Be Ready In January

Push Work on Interior; Changes Okayed at One to Cost $1,400.

Work on the interior of Mansfield's two new $450,000 junior high school buildings was being pushed today and it was expected that the structures will be ready for occupancy sometime in January unless construction difficulties develop.

At a special meeting yesterday afternoon the Mansfield board of education approved orders for three changes in the interior construction at the Johnny Appleseed building, adding approximately $1,400 to the cost.

The changes call for safety gates in the main corridors, an acoustical ceiling in the cafeteria and additional cupboards in the cafeteria.

The board of education also approved an order involving the expenditure of approximately $40 for changes in the PWA signs at the two school building projects. Two signs at each building, designating them as federal aid projects, must be re-painted because the federal government changed the official PWA title from the Federal Emergency Administration of Public Works to the Federal Works Agency, Public Works Administration.

Although the Johnny Appleseed building on Cline avenue is nearer completion than the John Simpson building, both will be opened for use at the same time, school officials said.

Opening Date Indefinite.

Architects declined today to predict when the structures will be ready, and Supt. W. L. Miller said it is impossible now to say when pupils can move into the building, being constructed as the major part of the city's million-dollar building program.

Virtually all exterior work on the two junior high buildings has been completed and work on the interiors is expected to go forward rapidly since workers will be sheltered and the weather will not hinder activities.

Plastering and the installation of heating, lighting and plumbing equipment will be completed soon and then the major remaining item will be the installation of seats and other room furnishings.

The superintendent's and board of education's offices will be moved from the Richland Trust building to the John Simpson building on West Fourth street when the new structure is ready.

DIARY SCANNED

Book Tells of Dead Slayer's Love for Wife He Killed.

PHILADELPHIA —(INS)—Police today scanned a diary written by Stanley Krygier, 30-year-old Port Richmond handyman, telling of love for his young bride, Regina, 22, fourth victim of a murderous rampage that may claim a fifth life.

Regina died of revolver wounds and hammer blows 14 hours after Krygier killed his mother-in-law, Mrs. Joseph Nieckoski, 45; sister-in-law, Florence, 17, and then committed suicide. The killer's father-in-law, Felix Nieckoski, 57, was in critical condition with a bullet wound in his chest.

Piecing together the tragedy, detectives learned the Polish-born Krygier was married last January but parted from his bride at Easter.

FAST COMEBACK

Governor Squelches Attorney With Laugh on Himself.

LINCOLN, Neb.—(AP)—Arguing before the state pardon board against the value of petitions for denying clemency to a client, Hyman Zelen of Lincoln said: "I heard of a man who once got up a petition to hang the governor and got 300 signatures to it."

Gov. R. L. Cochran, board chairman replied, "I should think a fellow could get more than that."

COL. BRADLEY ILL

LEXINGTON, Ky.—(U.P.)—Col. E. R. Bradley, of Lexington, whose race horses have won four Kentucky Derbys and innumerable other turf prizes, was confined to St. Joseph hospital here today.

Lead Move To Form Women Voters League

A group of Mansfield women met last night at the Chamber of Commerce rooms to organize a League of Women Voters for Mansfield and surrounding territory. In the top photo, left to right, are Mrs. Robert R. Black, Mrs. J. Carville Gorman, Mrs. Louis Bromfield and Mrs. W. J. Bishop. All of them, except Mrs. Bromfield, are on the nominating committee. Below, left to right, are Mrs. Charles Brown, Mrs. David Boals, Mrs. Coleman Todd, and Mrs. A. M. Colby. Mrs. Todd is temporary secretary.

Pictures Women Voters' Group As Safeguard For Democracy

With democracy and representative government fighting for an existence all over the world, American women are beginning to ask themselves what they can do to safeguard their own country and its government, Mrs. James T. Hoffman, Cleveland, told a group of Mansfield women last night at the organization meeting of the League of Women Voters.

Mrs. Hoffman, a county, state and national worker in the league was the principal speaker at a session at the Chamber of Commerce. Miss Ruth Cole of Cincinnati, a field worker for the league, explained projects and methods of the organization.

Mrs. Hoffman said that in the 20 years that women have had equal suffrage, they have grown more or less apathetic to their responsibilities as voters.

"The war in Europe with its threat of involving the world, has given women their first great challenge in 20 years, and everywhere women are beginning to ask: 'What can we do to save our form of government?'" she asserted.

BAN ON BETTING

Portsmouth Police Open Drive to Halt Gambling.

PORTSMOUTH—(U.P.)— A ban on gambling in Portsmouth was ordered today by Police Chief Harry Sheets.

Police raided two places in the business district early today and confiscated dice and card tables, chairs and other equipment. Operators of the games were ordered to appear in court.

Chief Sheets pointed out that there is no city ordinance prohibiting race horse bookmaking, however. The chief recently ordered patrolmen to confiscate all punch boards.

BOOSTS PRICE OF NEWSPRINT

U. S. Manufacturer Sets $49 A Ton Figure For First Quarter.

The result of the war in Europe, prices for newsprint paper will advance to $49 a ton in the first quarter of 1940 and to $50 for the second quarter, a major American newsprint manufacturer announced to newspapers of the country today.

The increase is $1 a ton for the first quarter of the year and $2 for the second.

Canadian mills announced some time ago that their prices would be $50 a ton for the first quarter of the year. No price was set for the second quarter.

—If the war continues for another year, newsprint manufacturers said, much sharper increases will be necessary in 1941. Canadian mills are being swamped with European demands for newsprint.

STATE OFFICIAL DIES

COLUMBUS—(INS)—A heart attack suffered in his office was blamed for the death of Stanley C. Griffin, 71, Columbus, chief inspector of the state division of the aid for the aged.

STATE INSPECTS CROSSINGS HERE

Threat by Mayor to Enforce Speed Ordinance Brings Utilities Inspector.

A threat by Mayor Claude M. Hunter to enforce a speed ordinance for trains passing through Mansfield resulted in an inspection of all protected and unprotected railroad crossings in the city by the Public Utilities Commission of Ohio today.

W. E. Harrington of Columbus, inspector of the commission arrived in Mansfield this morning and, accompanied by W. C. Statler, city engineer, made an inspection of the crossings.

The commission ordered Harrington to Mansfield today in answer to a communication from Mayor Hunter on Nov. 9.

The letter followed by four days the accidental death of Paul B. Dietrichson, 55, works manager of the Ohio Brass company and internationally-known engineer, who was killed driving across the Pennsylvania tracks at the unprotected Surrey street crossing.

A survey of the traffic over the crossing, adjacent to the Ohio Brass company, was conducted by the city Nov. 17, Service-Safety Director Earl A. Nist said today.

From midnight to midnight Nov. 17, a total of 2,401 pedestrians, 97 passenger cars and 78 trucks passed over the unprotected crossing, Nist stated.

War Playing Havoc With Yule Mail Schedule To Other Lands

The war in Europe has played havoc with postal-schedule as the annual deluge of Chirstmas mail for foreign countries nears, so that only certain types will be accepted and these must be sent early, Postmaster Herman Homberger said today.

In peacetime letters and post cards mailed in America could be depended upon to reach their European destinations within two weeks in most cases, while parcel post was only a little slower.

Under present conditions there are no definite schedules for boats sailing from New York and parcel post has been suspended entirely between this country and Czechoslovakia, Danzig, Germany, Poland, Finland and Sweden.

Only first class mail, such as letters and postcards will be accepted for delivery to these countries, Homberger said.

Postol officials in Washington said that they believed parcel post matter to all other countries in Europe had a good chance of delivery, but they refused to say how soon it could be delivered. Most of the European mail is being routed by way of Italy.

Countries and dates mail will be dispatched from New York and Pacific coast ports to arrive in time for Christmas are: China, Dec. 1; Japan, Dec. 4; Philippines, Dec. 1; New Zealand, Dec. 6; Argentina, Dec. 1; Bermuda, Dec. 16; Canal Zone, Dec. 15; Cuba, Dec. 21; Honduras, Dec. 16; Newfoundland, Dec. 16; Panama, Dec. 15; Puerto Rico, Dec. 16; Virgin Islands, Dec. 16, and Haiti, Dec. 15.

Mail for Hawaii will be dispatched from San Francisco, Dec. 5, 7, 12, 15 and 18, the last boat before Christmas arriving in Honolulu, Dec. 23.

JURY DEBATES GUILT OF KUHN ON 5 COUNTS

Bund Head Faces Maximum Jail Sentence of 22 Years If Convicted.

DESCRIBED AS HARMLESS

State Asks Long Prison Term on Charges of Stealing $1,217 From Group.

(By United Press)

NEW YORK—The prosecution in the Fritz Kuhn grand larceny trial asked a jury of 12 business men today to find the German-American bund leader guilty of charges which would make him liable to a maximum penalty of 22 years in prison.

The state's demand was voiced by Assistant District Attorney Herman J. McCarthy described by defense counsel as "perhaps the handsomest man in New York," who asserted that the love-making "bundesfuehrer" had stolen $1,217.02 from the organization he dominated.

McCarthy's summation, made in a locked courtroom, preceded General Sessions Judge James G. Wallace's charge to the jury and followed the summation of defense counsel Peter L. F. Sabbatino, completed yesterday.

Describing his client as "a little, harmless, strutting" man who made a fool of himself over blond Florence Camp, whose moving expenses the state says he paid with bund money, Sabbatino reminded the jury that the offense charged was larceny and not dalliance with the lady Kuhn once addressed as "my golden angel."

Mrs. Camp told of Kuhn's love-making, Sabbatino hinted, because District Attorney Thomas A. Dewey assigned the handsome McCarthy to question her.

Sabbatino spent three and a half hours yesterday asking the jury not to let American feelings regarding the principles for which the bund stands interfere with a just verdict. He said Kuhn was innocent.

Only 5 Counts Left.

The five counts are all that remain of an original 12 counts which had charged larceny of some $16,000. They accuse Kuhn of pocketing a $500 legal fee which he says he paid to an attorney and of paying a $717 furniture moving bill for Mrs. Camp.

DEBATE MOVE

Dies Probers Discuss Calling Mrs. Roosevelt to Testify.

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — The Dies committee met in special executive session today to consider inviting Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt to testify before it.

Committee members indicated that she would be given an opportunity to state her views on charges that the American Youth Congress is dominated by the Communist party. Mrs. Roosevelt, who held a tea at the White House for members of the Congress, has denied that it is.

Chairman Martin Dies, D., Tex., ill and unable to attend committee hearings yesterday, said the first lady "probably" would be given a chance to "air her views." He planned to attend today's special meetings.

Should Mrs. Roosevelt testify, it would be the first time a president's wife has appeared before a congressional committee.

SALARIES RAISED

Second Increase In 2 Years Given Barberton City Officials.

BARBERTON—(U.P.)—The second pay increase in two years has been voted for a dozen elected city officials today by the Barberton city council. The mayor's salary was raised from $2,250 to $2,520, the auditor's from $1,800 to $2,400, treasurer's from $540 to $600, solicitor's from $2,160 to $2,280, council president's from $90 to $144, and seven council members from $90 to $132.

NO PEACE PRIZE FOR 1940

Search For German Pocket Battleship Intensified As New Sinkings Of Allied Merchantmen Harass Shipping.

BULLETIN

LONDON—(UP)—Start of rationing in Britain has been delayed until Jan. 8 when regulations will go into effect limiting supplies of butter and bacon to four ounces of each per week to each consumer, Minister of Foods William S. Morrison announced in the house of commons today.

(By International News Service)

BERLIN—A British cruiser of the London class has been torpedoed and sunk by Lieut. Commander Gunther Prien, who sank the British battleship Royal Oak, the German high command announced in an official communique today.

The cruiser was sunk, the announcement said, east of the Shetland Islands, where German aircraft have been active in recent weeks.

The Royal Oak was sent to the bottom by two torpedoes from Prien's U-boat in the harbor of Scapa Flow, the chief naval concentration base in the Orkney Islands.

There are four British cruisers of the London class—the Devonshire, the London, the Shropshire and the Sussex.

All were built in 1927 or 1928, displace approximately 9,750 tons each and carry complements of 650 men. They are approximately 633 feet in length over all, with a beam of 66 feet and a draught of 17 feet.

Their armament includes eight 8-inch guns, four 4-inch guns, four 3-inch guns, sixteen smaller weapons, eight 21-inch torpedo tubes and each carries a single airplane equipped with catapult apparatus.

Meanwhile, British warships, reportedly armed with powerful 15 and 16-inch guns, far outstripping the 11-inch armament of the German pocket battleship Deutschland, scoured the Arctic waters off Iceland on a grim errand—to avenge the loss of the armed merchant cruiser Rawalpindi and nearly 300 members of her crew.

Authoritative circles in London hinted plainly that the British

THREAT: Red Army Told To Return Fire If Finns Provoke

(By United Press)

MOSCOW—The staff of the military district of Leningrad today ordered Soviet troops to "return the fire" if there were any more provocations by Finnish troops on the border.

A communique said: "In connection with provocative artillery firing upon our troops from Finland, Soviet troops are ordered to return the fire in the event of repeated Finnish provocations, until those who start the shooting are annihilated."

The Leningrad district embraces the Finnish-Soviet border area on the Karelian isthmus where, the Russians charged, Finnish troops fired seven artillery shells into the Russian lines last Sunday, killing four and wounding nine soldiers.

Finland has denied categorically that its troops did any firing and has rejected Russia's demand that Finnish troops withdraw from 12 to 15 miles from the border.

Finland's reply was regarded here as "bold and impertinent."

Finland had, in effect, called Russia a liar by denying that there had been any incident on the border such as Premier V. M. Molotov described, and thus provoked new outbursts of wrath in the Soviet press, on the radio and from military headquarters.

Finns Keep Calm In Face of Crisis.

HELSINGFORS, Finland—(U.P.)—Finns went about their business as usual today, maintaining a strange aplomb in the face of Russian threats and abuse of their government.

There were no crowds around government buildings; no queues in front of news stands, and very little to indicate that a crisis was in the offing. The popular calm seemed to spring either from the belief that Russia would not invade Finland, or, if she did, Finland's Scandinavian friends would come to her aid.

UTOPIA: Chamberlain Hints At United States Of Europe Hope

By DEWITT MACKENZIE, AP Foreign Affairs Writer.

The biggest news to come out of Europe in maybe a generation—bigger even than the declaration of the Hitlerian war—was contained in British Premier Chamberlain's empire broadcast, if this famous Allied leader meant what he seemed to mean in outlining peace aims.

A good many observers, including this writer, concluded that in his brief discussion of "how we may build a new and better Europe"—a "Utopian Europe," he called it—he was announcing a tentative project to make the age-old dream of a "United States of Europe, a reality in some form or other.

Such a regime would be calculated to ensure peace, security and economic stability. There would be neither war nor disputes like that between Finland and Russia under such a set-up—if it met the hopes of its exponents.

The premier spoke of a Europe in which "fears of aggression would have ceased," in which "it would be recognized that there can be no lasting peace unless there is full flow of trade between the nations concerned," and in which "armaments would gradually be dropped as a useless expense, except in so far as they were needed for the preservation of internal law and order."

Forecast of some sort of federation of the various states of Europe, however, seemed to lie in this sentence:

"In such a Europe each country would have the unfettered right to choose its own form of internal government so long as that government did not pursue an external policy injurious to its neighbors."

Nazidom was quick to hop on this declaration, asserting that Chamberlain's "idle prattle about a new Pan-European order of things is Utopian and has no connection with realities." An authorized Berlin source remarked that Chamberlain is "getting very old."

The prime minister is getting old, it is true. But from my first-hand investigation in Europe within the year I believe he voices the yearning of all the peoples when he talks of peace.

Dry-Cleaning Method Cleans Skin

Soapsuds and friction are necessary in the treatment of dust-filled pores. But if the skin texture is dotted with blackheads of long standing, soap will not dislodge them.

Twice a day the face must be scrubbed thoroughly. Twice a week the morning soaping should be omitted and the skin surface given a dry cleaning. Pour a few drops alcohol diluted one half with water on a moistened wash cloth, go over the skin surface lightly. Keep the cologne can be used in place of cloth away from the eyes. Eau de alcohol, need not be diluted.

Fuller's earth is a grand old cleaning agent. Made suitable for cosmetic use, it is known as kaolin, can be purchased at any drug store. It is a fine powder. Take a heaping teaspoonful of kaolin, add enough witch hazel to form a paste the consistency of whipped cream, spread over a clean skin surface.

When this refreshing pack starts to flake it is time to remove it. Use tepid water and a washcloth for the purpose. Friction with an ice cube to make the circulatory system march. The flesh will be pink and glowing.

While creams are not always suitable for treatment of blackheads and pimples, since most physicians recommend drying applications, almost every skin needs a little lubricating to keep the surface smooth. After the refrigerating is a good time to use a light cream. Tap it in with the fingertips, remove every bit of it with tissues. When acne is present the free use of oily cosmetics may cause it to spread.

Better lock yourself in your bedroom when experimenting. When you have on a clay pack you will look as if you had mildewed in the face; you will scare little children half to death.

If blackheads are deep-seated, use hot steaming towels after the removal of the mask and before using the ice. Heat dissolves the waxlike plugs, steams away the black points. Look into a magnifying mirror after the treatment and you will be convinced that the pores of your celestial countenance have had a housecleaning.

Once a week is often enough for the kaolin treatment. Better have it at bedtime so the cutaneous coat will not be subjected to strong winds or sunlight. Kaolin is harmless, is used in beauty shops throughout the land, can do no possible damage to even the most temperamental complexion.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

There was something in the way Dicky pronounced the name "Babs" that revealed volumes to me. I do not mean that there was anything in the utterance which made me feel any jealousy—it was not the voice of a lover speaking a beloved name—but there was something familiar in the nuance of his voice. It told me that whoever this "Babs" might be, she had roused the artistic interest and the romantic chivalry which often come to my husband when he is thrown into companionship with some young and attractive girl.

That he was finding difficulty in telling me about "Bab," I saw by his eyebrows, knitted into a frown, and by suddenly-etched lines about his mouth. Pulling myself together, I stepped into the breach.

"And who was 'Babs'?" I queried with carefully-staged casualness. "Her daughter?"

"No-o," Dicky answered slowly, "not her daughter. She called the woman 'Auntie,' but I never was quite sure that she was in reality a niece. But they were fond of each other, and the girl was a cute little trick, with a perfect passion for work She kept the office and my desk immaculate, too damned orderly sometimes, but she was so earnest and enthusiastic about her work that I didn't have the heart to tell her to leave my things alone. But to do her justice she never disturbed things; at least, they were always where I had put them when I started looking for them"

I could see the set-up so clearly. Because of Dicky's chivalric attitude, and his lack of suspicion, this "Babs" had had the run of his desk, and access to his private papers It had been an easy thing for her and her "aunt" to find out things which they could turn to account in their own nefarious schemes

"The only thing that used to bother me about her," Dicky went on with a patent effort, "was the fact that she was crazy to get into posing, and when she found out that I was an artist and employed models, I would catch her looking at me with the most wishful look on her face, as if I were somebody who had a key to heaven, but wouldn't unlock the door and let her in.

"I was too busy to pay much attention to her," he said, "until I got an order for that book of Roberts'—you know, the one with the gamin-faced girl for a heroine."

I nodded I remembered those illustrations very well, and suddenly had a mental picture of "Babs" The gamin-faced girl whom Dicky had drawn in the illustrations for that book had been one of his most successful and artistic endeavors

"Well! that girl was 'Babs,'" he said. "The minute I read the book, I knew that she had just the kind of face I needed for my drawings, and I sent her into the seventh heaven by telling her she could pose for me and that she would receive good pay for her work. She posed for every drawing except one, and that one I had to fake, because of what I'm going to tell you now, and it's the hardest thing I've ever had to do in my life."

Paired Second Time.

In pairing Jean Arthur and James Stewart for a second time in "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington," Frank Capra, the director, broke what apparently had been a hard and fast rule in Stewart's career. Not since he attained stardom in "Seventh Heaven," has Stewart been cast with the same leading lady twice, until this picture, which is current at the Ohio theater. They were together for the first time in "You Can't Take It With You," the Academy Award winner. Miss Arthur's poised loveliness provides a perfect balance to Stewart's awkward shyness in the new picture. Others in the cast are Edward Arnold, Beulah Bondi, Eugene Pallette, Guy Kibbee, Ruth Donnelly, H. B. Warner, and Harry Carey.

Benefit At Madison.

"The Honeymoon's Over" is the title of the romantic comedy scheduled to be shown Wednesday at the Madison theater, under the auspices of the Alfred I. Harrington post, Veterans of Foreign Wars, the management announced today. It is a story of domestic life which traces the romance of Stewart Erwin and Marjorie Weaver from love in an office to love in a rose-covered cottage where it bogs down in a deluge of the bills of "high society" living. In connection with the screen offering an amateur show will be staged at 9 o'clock. The picture will be shown one day only, with the veterans' organization sharing in the proceeds which will be added to their welfare fund.

"The Authority on Authorities"

CAN YOU LOSE ONE?

HOW TO play a particular suit depends frequently on whether you can afford to lose a trick in it or not. If you can't, then there is usually some one best way to play it. That way would not necessarily be sound if you could afford to lose one trick, but not two. In this case, you must use every means to prevent the loss of the second trick.

(Dealer: South East-West vulnerable.)

This deal in a duplicate game produced small slam contracts at both Spades and No Trump, but presented exactly the same playing problem at either declaration. That lay in the way to play the Spade suit Twelve tricks could not be made except by limiting the Spade loss to one trick.

When the spade jack was led for a finesse on the first round the contract failed, because of South's bunched spades. The only declarer to make the contract was the one who led the spade 6 from his own hand and then came up with the ace, leading a small spade back and finessing the 9 when South played small That plan of play was the only one which would prevent two losers, no matter how the opponents' spades were divided.

If West bids 1-Diamond here and North 2-Clubs, why will 2-Spades in the South produce a better score eventually than bidding 2-Hearts?

HOROSCOPE

For Wednesday, Nov. 29.

Affairs move at a highly-accelerated pace on this day under the impulse of greatly-stimulated forces anrd faculties. Particularly are new projects and interests advanced under the high pressure of progressive planetary urges. It is a time to move forward with initiative, courage and by means of the keen impetus of practically constructive abilities and talents. Group action in such enterprises seems encouraged. But do not overdo through excessive zeal or wilfulness.

Those whose birthday it is are assured a year of definite accomplishment, especially in the direction of putting over new propositions or gaining important objectives, in which some manner of group co-operation may be advantageous. The energies and initiative will be spurred to high tension, but be careful not to overdo with enthusiasm, reckless determination or impetuosity.

A child born on this day may have excellent ability for fine creative work of a practical and dependable nature. These it may develop with courage, determination and headstrongness, the latter to a degree of obstinacy.

GO TO SCHOOL

ELDORADO, Ill., — (INS) — Three mothers were registered in this year's classes at Eldorado Township High School, one of them in the senior class where her daughter is also a student.

Mrs. Marie Roye Bean and her daughter, Henrietta, both are scheduled to receive their diplomas at the same time next year.

The other two students, one doing special work and the other a member of the senior class, have a small child each.

Morgenthau Economy Plan Revived In Budget Studies

CUTS TOTALING $700,000,000 SEEN IN MOVE

Depression Spoiled Program of Morgenthau in 1937 to Trim Expenses.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — President Roosevelt's economy plans for the next fiscal year revived interest today in a short-lived retrenchment program sponsored by Secretary of Treasury Henry Morgenthau, jr., to trim $700,000 000 from the federal budget.

Morgenthau's plan was wrecked by the 1937 depression which caught the administration by surprise and turned it from economy to new spending-lending legislation.

There has been no indication from the White House whether the 1937 economy plan is to be revived or give way to a new approach toward a more nearly balanced budget.

Before the administration decided to shift its policy from retrenchment to additional pump-priming in 1937, Morgenthau outlined his plan to reduce highway, public works, relief and agricultural appropriations.

Roosevelt and Budget Director Harold D. Smith have been conferring in Warm Springs, Ga., on the 1941 fiscal program. National defense already has been insulated against economy. Roosevelt expects to ask upward of $2,000,000,000 for defense next year and has suggested that the public—and Congress—make up its mind whether some $500,000,000 of that sum shall be paid for with new taxes.

Immune From Cuts.

There are other categories of expenditure which cannot be cut much, if any. Interest on the public debt, burgeted at $1,050,000,000 this year, is immune from economy efforts. Social security, budgeted currently at $928 000,000 is more likely to go up than to come down. Veterans' pensions and benefits, $539 000,000 could but scarcely will be reduced.

More than half of the current fiscal year's $9 000 000 000 budget as presented by Roosevelt to Congress last January is covered by the foregoing items, all of which are more or less economy-resistant. Alternative economy areas, as suggested two years ago by Morgenthau, are as explosive and dangerous as the well-mined waters of the North Sea.

But relief expenditures appear as of now to offer as likely an economy field as any. Roosevelt budgeted last January for $2,019,000,000 for unemployment relief in the fiscal year which began July 1, 1939, and will end next June 30. The nation was carrying a tremendous depression load of unemployment when Roosevelt prepared that budget figure.

RULES ON LEVY

State Official Says County Boards Can Act When Voters Refuse.

COLUMBUS — (AP) — County board of education today had authority, under a ruling by Atty. Gen. Thomas J. Herbert, to levy a mandatory three-mills tax for school operations in instances where local boards fail or refuse to make the levy.

Another ruling fixed the date a new law creating a school board service fund of not more than $200 a year becomes operative as the third Monday in January, 1940.

GRIDDER HELD

Ohio Athlete Accused of Attack On 16-Year-Old Girl.

HOLLYWOOD—(UP)—James R. Davis, Ohio professional football player, was held for superior court trial today on a charge of raping 16-year-old Lucille Covelli.

Davis, 25, is a star halfback of the Columbus Bullies. He was bound over for trial along with Morton and Wilbur Brade, brothers.

The girl testified she was selling church raffle tickets when the youths forced her into an apartment and seven of them attacked her.

LAST RITES SET

Plan Funeral Tomorrow for Daniel Geiger, 69, Chatfield Township.

BUCYRUS — Funeral services will be held tomorrow at 2 p. m. in the Crawford Lutheran church for Daniel Geiger, 69, Crawford township farmer who died at his home Sunday night at 8:45 o'clock following an illness of several years. Burial will be made in the cemetery adjoining the church.

The deceased is survived by a family of six children. His only survivors are several nieces and nephews. One niece, Miss Mary [illegible] has made her home with the deceased for 15 years. Mrs. Geiger died 25 years ago.

LEGAL NOTICE

Doyle Stahl, whose residence is [illegible] Green Acres, Bucyrus, Ohio, is hereby put on notice to [illegible] under the 27th day of November, 1939, and his petition against [illegible] for divorce on the grounds of gross neglect of duty, in case no appearance is made by the Common Pleas Court of Richland county, Ohio, and that the same will be for hearing on or after the 9th day of January, 1940.

DistricT BREVITIES

ASHLAND—The Ashland county treasurer's department had just a "fair" collection for the last half of the 1939 personal tax collected, it was announced by Karl K. Kick, treasurer.

Kick announced his office collected a total of $52,088.64 in taxes and $1,455.79 in delinquent accounts.

ASHLAND—Members of the Junior High school P. T. A. will meet Thursday evening in the home economics room of the high school for a round table program on "Courtesy and Manners." The discussion will be in charge of Mrs. D. D. Montoya, Mrs Milton Puterbaugh, Mrs J E Hartsler, Miss Sarah Smith and R. V. Bolinger.

BUCYRUS — Charging a contract which provided five-year employment as agent in the Bucyrus station has been broken, George W. Ward of Bucyrus has filed action against the Pennsylvania Greyhound Lines, Inc., asking judgment of $2,050.

Ward alleges the contract which was signed May 14, 1936, provided a salary of $100 a month for a five-year period. The plaintiff charges he was discharged May 31, 1939, while the contract had nearly two years to run. The amount asked represents the salary allegedly due him for the two-year period.

DRAFT PLAN SET

Army, Navy Reveal Details of Conscription Program.

WASHINGTON — (INS) — The army and navy revealed today for the first time plans to draft millions of men to defend the United States in event of war.

The joint army-navy selective service committee has issued a booklet, for departmental use only, in which it estimated 60 days would be required for approval of a draft law, during which 790,000 men would be called to the colors.

It said the army would need 300,000 men the first month and 200,000 the second; the navy 125,000 each month, and the marines 25,000 the first 30 days and 15,000 men the second month.

The committee said the plans call for a "civilian effort" as a "stopgap" in the first days of war—a vast recruiting program which would be handled by governors of each state and prominent citizens.

FAKE ATTORNEY DUPES COUNTIES

$15,000 Swindle Bared By State In Seven Ohio Districts.

COLUMBUS—(INS)—Duped by a man who represented himself as an attorney for persons supposedly dead or missing, county officials were swindled of between $15,000 and $20,000 in 1937 and 1938, State Auditor Joseph Ferguson disclosed today.

The alleged swindler in each instance gave the name of H. J. Rundt, Ferguson said. State examiners became suspicious when Rundt's name appeared on the records of at least seven counties including Wayne, Licking, Miami, Auglaize, Lucas, Gallia and Ross.

Investigation revealed that the man singled out unclaimed cash paid into treasuries years ago. Forging powers of attorney, he requested payment on behalf of his non-existing clients.

LOVE FINDS WAY

Son, Daughter of Political Rivals Announce Marriage Plans.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich.—(INS)—Love leaped the bounds of political rivalry today as the engagement of Mrs. Barbara Vandenberg Knight to John W. Bailey jr., was announced.

Mrs. Knight is the daughter of U. S. Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg, Michigan's senior senator.

Bailey is the son of John W. Bailey, sr., who was defeated for the senate by Vandenberg in 1928.

CIO WINS ELECTION AT GLOBE STEEL PLANT BY SINGLE VOTE

By a margin of one vote, the CIO today had won the right to represent workers at the Mansfield Globe Steel Abrasive company plant as their collective bargaining agent.

The plant's 15 productive workers voted 8 to 7 yesterday for representation by the Amalgamated Association of Iron Steel and Tin Workers, a CIO union, at an election conducted at the plant by the National Labor Relations board.

Walter Taag, Cleveland field agent for the NLRB came to Mansfield to conduct the election after the CIO union had filed an application for bargaining powers with the board.

Results of the election were announced at Cleveland today by Oscar S. Smith, regional director of the NLRB. The Mansfield plant has 18 employes, but three of them are foremen and not eligible to vote on the question of union representation.

The election gives the Amalgamated Iron, Steel and Tin Workers' union the authority to bargain for employes with company officials on questions of wages, hours and working conditions, Paul McConnell, secretary-treasurer of the firm, said today.

"It does not mean a closed shop at the Mansfield plant," he added.

Red Cross Brings Annual Roll Call To Close Thursday

The Red Cross Roll Call closes at 5 p. m. Thursday and workers in the city and county were being urged today to make their reports before that time.

The Richland County chapter will report to national headquarters Thursday evening on the results of the Roll Call, L. W. Birch, general chairman said today.

Of the 50 precincts in Mansfield only 25 have been completed and of the 17 townships in the county, only one has been reported as completed.

Although Shelby will not complete its drive before Thursday, General Chairman Leo McGaw reported 2,000 memberships on his 2,400 quota.

This figure today had brought the county chapter up to 7,371, which leaves 2,629 members to be enrolled by Thursday if the chapter is to make its quota of 10,000 members, Birch said.

Gyro Members to Hold Bi-Weekly Meeting at Possum Run.

Members of the Gyro club will hold their regular bi-weekly meeting at Possum Run Country club tomorrow evening instead of at the Mansfield-Leland hotel, with a wild duck dinner as the chief attraction. The meeting has been designated as guest night. Dinner will be served at 6:45 p. m.

Motion pictures of game hunting in Canada are scheduled for the evening's entertainment.

MONEY'S GONE

Columbus City Workers Face Pay Days Without Pay.

COLUMBUS —(INS)— Prospects of a payless December faced Columbus police, firemen and other city employes today because of a $200,000 deficit in the city's general fund.

The fund will be exhausted by payment of November payrolls, the city auditor reported, and there are no prospects of any additional revenue. Furthermore the payless period may extend into January and February.

TRUCK DRIVER KILLED

MARTINS FERRY, O.—(UP)—Funeral arrangements were made today for John Deangelo, 19, who was killed when the truck in which he was riding crashed into another truck parked near Bannock.

3 FROM COUNTY GIVEN PAROLES

Trio Among 72 To Be Released From London Prison Farm.

Three men sentenced from Richland county were among the 72 inmates of the London prison farm who were granted paroles today by the Ohio Parole commission.

The Richland countians were Jacob Sutter and Rex Harmon who will be released Jan. 2 and John Williams, who will go free April 1.

Harmon and Williams were sentenced Dec. 10, 1938, to one to 15 years for burglary and Sutter was sent to the penitentiary last Dec. 1 for one to three years on a conviction for non-support. The three inmates were transferred to the prison farm after starting their sentences in the penitentiary.

ONLY 14 OF 35 ASSIGNED WPA JOBS SHOW UP

Men Offered Work on Bridge Projects to Be Given Two More Days to Report.

Despite the Richland County Workers Alliance claim that there are more WPA workers than jobs, only 14 men of 35 called this morning on new projects reported for work, C. W. Adkins, county project supervisor, said today.

Relief officials could account for only four of the 21 men who failed to report, and Adkins said the remaining 17 apparently had obtained other employment or did not want the jobs.

The men were offered jobs on four bridge projects in Monroe, Springfield and Butler townships. Ten more men will be put to work on the Bowman street bridge project in Mansfield next week if they are available, Adkins said.

Plans to Ask for More.

"Workers called for the bridge jobs will be given two more days to report," Adkins said, "and if 35 are not available then, I'll request 35 more."

Until last week, when 27 of 35 men reported for jobs, only 40 per cent of the men requested for projects showed up, Adkins pointed out.

With the 14 who were put to work today, there are approximately 260 men employed on county road and bridge projects, the supervisor said. Other WPA projects in the county boost the enrollment to more than 400 workers, still the lowest figure in at least two years.

With WPA officials contending they are short-handed, John Sparks, president of the county Workers Alliance, said that "at least 50 men who are certified for WPA jobs are not able to get them."

Accusing WPA officials of "stalling," Sparks said the alliance "wants these 50 men placed on jobs immediately so they will have some money for their children's Christmas."

MISSING MAN RETURNS

MIDDLEPORT, O. — (UP) — Clyde O. French, 40, Middleport and Jackson business man who had been missing from his home more than 30 hours, returned last night, according to authorities.

Tells How Interest In Boys Helps To Halt Delinquency

Importance of individual and group interest in boys of a community was emphasized at today's Rotary club meeting, held at the Mansfield-Leland hotel and in charge of the club's Boys' Work committee.

The speaker was Ralph C. Knight, director of boys and young men's work in the Massillon Y. M. C. A., and also prominent in state Y. M. C. A. activities.

Incidents based on Knight's experience in connection with association work in Massillon, and ways in which juvenile delinquency was reduced by a constructive program of helpfulness to boys being reared in a dangerous environment, provided the basis of his talk on "The Layman's Responsibility In Community Boys' Program."

Harold W. Arlin was program chairman of the meeting and group singing was directed by LeMoine Derr, with Maurice Stretch as piano accompanist. Ralph Chapman, secretary of the Mansfield Y. M. C. A., was among the guests.

600 CHRYSLER MEN AT WORK

Strife Avoided In Dodge Strike, Leaders Seek Labor Peace.

DETROIT—(AP)—Approximately 600 workers entered the Chrysler main Dodge plant today without incident other than the booes of several thousand members of the United Automobile Workers union (CIO) on the picket line. Special police details were on duty.

As was the case yesterday when about 200 workers were admitted to the strike-bound plant, union leaders at loudspeakers cautioned the pickets against violence.

High officials of the corporation and the UAW-CIO met again today in renewed efforts to untangle the labor dispute which has made an estimated 150,000 men idle in the automobile and allied industries.

OHIO PRISONER ESCAPES

LONDON, O. —(AP)— Horatio Perry, 48, colored, was sought today as a walk-away from the Lebanon honor camp of the London Prison farm. He was sentenced from Hamilton county in 1937 for housebreaking.

ASHLAND GRAND JURY TO HEAR 6 CASES TODAY

Breaking, Entering Charges Against Ill. Youth, 22, to Be Weighed.

ASHLAND—A panel of 15 grand jurors called this morning in common pleas court here is expected to examine six witnesses and investigate six or seven cases, according to Prosecuting Attorney A. Ross Siverling.

The jurors were expected to need only one day in which to complete their investigations.

One of the cases which they will consider will be the charges of breaking and entering against Charles Wolfe, 22, of Ashland, now in the county jail bedridden with what may develop into pneumonia.

Wolfe, confined with a bad case of bronchitis, according to Dr. John Riebel, called to diagnose the case, has been confined to the county jail for five weeks.

Held in Lieu of Bond.

It is not known how he developed the illness, but if he becomes any worse he will develop pneumonia and must be sent to a hospital, Dr. Riebel said.

Wolfe has been held in the jail in lieu of $1,000 bond, which he was not able to furnish when he pleaded guilty to the charges of breaking and entering into a filling station here more than a month ago.

TAFT HITS AT U. S. SPENDING

'Hard To Exaggerate Danger,' Says Senator In Oklahoma Talk.

OKLAHOMA CITY —(AP)— Sen. Robert A. Taft (R., Ohio) assailed the "spend-thrift policy of the federal government" in an address before Oklahoma Republicans last night.

He declared it was "hard to exaggerate the danger to the future of this country in the growing deficit and the utter lack of any government attempt to eliminate it."

Many public works projects rejected by congress, such as superhighways and canals, were likely to be included "under the cloak of the preparedness program," Taft declared.

Three Ex-Cleveland Policemen Win Paroles From Pen

LORAIN COUNTY EX-SHERIFF'S CASE DELAYED

State Commission to Release Former Officers Next Year; Investigate Grall Plea.

(By United Press)

COLUMBUS, O.—Three former Cleveland police officers convicted of bribery were granted paroles today by the state pardon and parole commission. They are former Deputy Inspector Edwin C. Burns, former Captain Michael J. Harwood and former Lieutenant John H. Nebe.

Burns is to be paroled from prison May 1, 1940; Harwood Nov. 1, 1940; and Nebe May 15, 1940.

The former Cleveland officers were received at Ohio penitentiary in March, 1938, and were transferred to the London prison farm in May.

The commisison continued hearing of the case of former Sheriff William F. Grall of Lorain county, convicted of bribery a year ago until November, 1940.

In the meantime, a special investigation will be assigned to study Grall's case. The commission's minutes merely stated that Grall's case had been continued "for further investigation." He became eligible for parole after Nov. 1, 1939.

Entered Pen Last December.

The 56-year-old former sheriff entered Ohio penitentiary Dec. 16, 1938, and was transferred to the London prison farm last May 15.

Grall was convicted on a charge of accepting a bribe from Maxine Barbour to permit operation of a disorderly house. She was jointly indicted but never was apprehended.

During an earlier investigation of slot machine bribery, Grall gained immunity from prosecution on that count by testifying before the county grand jury. As a result of the investigation, four men were convicted of bribery.

Ashland Students Learn About Trains By Riding On One

A class of 32 Ashland high school students will spend 20 minutes aboard a train this afternoon, as part of their school work.

Accompanied by two teachers, the students will come to Mansfield this afternoon and board the Erie railroad's new train, the Midlander, and ride back to Ashland on it.

In addition to the fun of having a train ride, the students will learn how Pullman car beds are made up, how food is cooked and served aboard a de luxe train and other things about what railroads do to make passengers comfortable, J. W. Gilkison, Erie agent in Mansfield said today.

The Midlander arrives in Mansfield at 3:50 p. m., and leaves at 3 58. The run to Ashland, 16.6 miles, takes 20 minutes.

PHYSICIANS DINE

Medical Society Elects At Annual Rabbit Dinner Thursday.

The Richland County Medical society will elect officers Thursday night following its annual rabbit dinner at the Fairway Inn near Galion, Dr. L. D. Bonar, secretary, announced today.

Dr. D. A. Weir and Dr. H. T. Stiles of Mansfield are in charge of reservations for the dinner session which will start at 6:30 p. m. Dr. C. R. Damron of Mansfield is president of the society and Dr. W. H. Buker of Bellville is vice president.

Up and Down THE STREET

An Ashland friend of C. I. Kimmel, Richland county game warden, today was still trying to find out why Kimmel failed to keep a dinner engagement at the Ashland man's home Sunday evening. Assured by Kimmel that he would be there in the afternoon, the friend's wife prepared the dinner early, and after a long wait the two ate alone. Kimmel, it developed, was visiting with friends in Mansfield and had forgotten all about his dinner engagement in Ashland.

Shelby police are on the hunt for one or a dozen "special policemen." They don't know which. A dozen special police badges were stolen from the car of Earl Brissel, Shelby high school custodian, recently, and Shelby officers are still searching for the culprit or culprits. The badges were worn by special police at Shelby high football games and on other special occasions.

Workmen had to build temporary "bridges" over the fountain in Central Park today before they could string the Christmas decorations on the fountain. The reason was that the water is still in the fountain and the workers were taking no chances on getting a ducking. The "bridges" were heavy boards placed over the water from the center of the fountain to the outer rim. Park officials plan to leave the gold fish in the fountain all winter, supplying them with fresh water at intervals to keep the water from freezing solid.

"What's in a name?" Just ask the advertising committee of the Mansfield Community Players. The first play will be given at Senior high school next Tuesday night, but the name of the play is "The Night of Jan. 16," and this appears in big letters on placards and advertising over the city. So that a person glancing at them sees only "Jan. 16, Community Players." Ticket sellers are having a headache explaining the "Night of Jan. 16" comes on Dec. 5. The reserved seat board for season tickets opens at 9 a. m. Friday in the ballroom of the Mansfield-Leland hotel. After the first hour it will be taken to the Tawse pharmacy where it will remain until Tuesday evening.

STARS IN OPERA

Gotham Attorney Puts on Act as New Season Opens.

NEW YORK—(INS)—Judged by the most critical of society standards, last night's opening of the 55th regular season at the Metropolitan Opera House was acknowledged today to have attained a new high in opulence.

The famous "Diamond Horseshoe" glistened as never before with a priceless array of gems that adorned the famous names of New York society.

On the other side of the footlights, Lawrence Tibbett, Giovanni Martinelli, Elisabeth Rethberg and Ezio Pinza sang the richly toned opera "Simon Boccenegra" of Verdi.

An unscheduled, but none-the-less diverting, performance was turned in by Richard Knight, socially prominent New York attorney. Between the first and second acts, Knight made his way to the lounge bar and there staged an acrobatic repertoire that drew attention. Ushers finally escorted the amiable Mr. Knight from the premises.

FIRM REDUCES CAPITAL STOCK

Seamless Tube Stockholders at Shelby Okay Plan, Vote to Issue New Shares.

Stockholders of the Ohio Seamless Tube company at a special meeting in Shelby yesterday adopted a plan for the reduction of the capital stock of the company from $2,119,370 to $1,471,960.

The stockholders authorized a change in the capital structure of the company which calls for an issue of 50,000 additional shares of stock; a transfer of preferred shares and a reduction and an additional issue of common stock.

E. W. McNeill, secretary of the company said the shareholders approved a plan calling for the issuance of 50,000 shares of "Prior Preference stock," bearing an initial dividend of $2,68 per share, redeemable at $55 a share plus accrued dividends.

Naming the Central National bank of Cleveland as trustee, the stockholders approved the plan whereby the new stock will be issued on the basis of four shares for each share of seven per cent preferred stock placed on deposit.

In addition the stockholders voted to change the outstanding common stock without par value into an equal number of shares of common stock with a par value of $5 a share, reducing the stated capital of each share from $13.22 to $5.

The company has outstanding 10,787 shares of seven per cent preferred stock with a par value of $100.

McNeill said the company during the first nine months of 1939 had a profit of $95,063 as compared with a loss of $101,819 for the same period in 1938. The outlook for the balance of the year was "quite favorable," he added.

The refinancing plan was suggested by the directors of the company so as to satisfy the dividend accruals on the preferred stock which may be paid only out of the surplus and which are in arrears, McNeill said.

AGED COUPLE TELLS OF LOSING SAVINGS IN CEMETERY LOT DEAL

CINCINNATI — (INS)—The federal court trial of 12 persons indicted in a cemetery lot fraud case was resumed today after an aged couple told of investing $5,300—almost their life savings—in lots of the Arlington Memorial park.

Mrs. Lizzie Rhoads, 75, Brookville, O., told the jury "we were awful proud when we had Dr. Hagen's word that everything was all right." She referred to Dr. J. Stewart Hagen, Hamilton county Republican leader and one of those indicted.

Near the conclusion of her testimony, Mrs. Rhoads broke down under intensive cross examination by Haveth E. Mau, defense attorney. Through tearfilled eyes she exclaimed that Mau "got her all worked up and worried."

During the court session, Richard T. Mills, Cleveland, a defense attorney, moved for a mistrial on the assertion that Mrs. Rhoads' husband, Abner, also 75, was of unsound mind. The motion was overruled by U. S. District Judge MacSwinford.

Cross examination of Mrs. Rhoads drew the point that her last and most disastrous investment was made after Hagen was no longer associated with the Arlington company.

Those on trial, besides Hagen, include Stewart C. Cooper, former assistant Hamilton county prosecutor; Alfred Lefeber, sanitary engineer, and Morton Gilbert, who was convicted and sent to Atlanta federal prison in connection with an earlier cemetery lot case.

CONTAGION UP

Cases in County Rise 100 Per Cent in October.

Communicable diseases in Richland county, exclusive of Mansfield and Shelby, during October showed a more than 100 per cent increase over September, Dr. Roy C. Rehder, city-county health commissioner, announced today.

Last month 35 cases of contagion were reported to the health department as compared with 15 for the month previous, the report revealed.

The largest increase was in scarlet fever with 11 cases reported last month as against three in September. There were 14 cases of chickenpox and six of whooping cough.

Twenty-five births were recorded during the month to raise the total number of babies born in the county district this year to 196. There were 19 deaths last month.

UPS PAYMENTS FOR CONSERVING LAND IN 1940

Wallace Says Project Depends on Congress Appropriating $500,000,000.

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON — Secretary of Agriculture Henry A. Wallace announced a 1940 farm program today calling for more than $750,000,000 in government subsidy payments.

The program provides for increased payments for soil conservation practices in line with Wallace's plan to shift emphasis from acreage control to soil conservation.

Wallace said that the 1940 program was contingent upon an appropriation of $500,000,000 to the Agricultural Adjustment administration by congress. At the last session $225,000,000 was appropriated for parity payments. Export subsidy payments will add considerable to the farm total.

The program calls for changes in the rates of payment on several crops, but total benefit payments would be about the same as this year. The national soil-depleting crop goal was unchanged at 270,000,000 to 285,000,000 acres.

The 1940 program does not change the cotton acreage goal of 27,000,000 to 29,000,000 acres. Cotton planting has been reduced by nearly 10,000,000 acres since the start of the farm program in 1938. Last spring farmers planted 26,000,000 acres.

Wheat Acreage Increased.

Wheat acreage in 1940 would be increased from 55,000,000 acres this year to 62,000,000 acres. Corn acreage allotments call for a reduction of about 6,000,000 acres. The 1940 crops will be 88,000,000 to 90,000,000 acres.

The 1940 benefit rate to corn farmers will be increased from nine to 10 cents a bushel. An additional parity payment of five or six cents a bushel will be made. AAA wheat payments were reduced from 17 to nine cents a bushel.

Acreage goals in 1940 for other crops were:

Potatoes—Unchanged at 3,100,000-3,300,000 acres.

Burley tobacco—360,000-370,000 acres compared with 375,000-410,000 this year. Benefit rates raised from .8 cents to one cent a pound.

ALLOTTED FUNDS

City, County Schools Receive $93,000 From State.

Mansfield and Richland county schools had received $93,054 in state foundation program money today in the final allocation of funds for the year.

Supt. Boyd Robinson of the county schools immediately distributed the county's share, totaling $47,610, to 11 districts in the county. Mansfield schools received $45,444.

In the rural school allocation, Madison township schools, with the largest enrollment, received $7,653, more than any other district. Amounts distributed to other districts were:

Lexington, $6,324; Bellville, $6,321; Springfield township, $5,396; Union Rural, $4,901; Butler village, $4,577; Cass township, $4,105; Plymouth, $3,432; Lucas, $3,067; Mifflin township, $1,036, and Washington township, $794.

FAIR ENOUGH!

Kansas City's Papers Slumbered Before They Exposed Political Graft

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

(Editor's Note: This is a continuation of Westbrook Pegler's series on the shakeup in Kansas City which led to the downfall of Tom Pendergast, political boss.)

Plain newspaper reporting made the first break in the fortress of graft and general corruption erected by Tom Pendergast, but it must be allowed that for years the newspapers of Kansas City were either complacent or deceived.

Roy Roberts, the editorial boss of the Star, admits that he shared the popular belief that Pendergast was satisfied with the honest graft which he was known to receive from his companies dealing in concrete and concrete pipe, his garbage disposal company, his asphalt and paving interests and his liquor agency.

Moreover, when Henry F. McElroy, a cunning and picturesque little Iowa real estate dealerj, became city manager and announced that he would keep his own accounts according to his own homespun, country store method, he received editorial acclaim. McElroy died suddenly a few weeks ago after he had been indicted in the state courts and just as Maurice Milligan, the federal district attorney, was on the point of indicting him for evasion of his income taxes.

When he fled from office he took along his primitive informal accounts as personal possessions, but the official books reeked of fraud. The federal government is now proceeding against his estate for taxes on unreported income, but he is understood to have divested himself of most of his personal wealth years ago by gifts to members of his family.

McElroy, like Pendergast, took full advantage of the gullibility of press and public. He was a bossy, officious little man who developed into an act, his pose of simple, direct efficiency. He refused to answer questions and for years the city's books were as private as the financial records of the state of Louisiana under Huey Long and his political heirs, until last spring, when, in Louisiana too, a newspaper editor, James Crown, broke through the gang's defenses with a minute expose of graft.

Less than two years ago, when open gambling and prostitution flourished in Kansas City under police protection, and, in one notorious place, nude waitresses served a "businessmen's" lunch, an important executive of the Journal-Post deprecated the Star's crusade against the ballot frauds on the ground that their importance was exaggerated to the detriment of Kansas City.

He didn't know, and, at that time, neither did Roberts, what rottenness existed behind McElroy's front of rugged independence and Pendergast's fake reputation for generosity and kindness.

McElroy pretended that good government and economy were a hobby with him and that he had made his pile and was now indifferent to profit. He let it be understood that he was doing Kansas City a favor and that it would be gross ingratitude to question him on money matters. He would arbitrarily cut the pay of the cops and other city employes for months at a time as a show of ruthless, nonpolitical economy, and the public cheered, not knowing that the rolls, nevertheless, were padded with hundreds of Pendergast's ward and precinct leaders with only nominal duties or none at all.

The roster has been reduced by 1,400 head and about a million dollars a year already and will be further deloused of Pendergast parasites in the near future. The unfortunate honest cops and other actual servants in the city administration had a miserable time, being robbed of earned pay so that McElroy could make a show of balancing a fake budget.

The pay they lost in this manner was diverted to the political deadheads on the rolls and to such major robberies as a water leak inspection service which cost $5,000 a month for six years, almost all graft.

The political deadheads, in turn, and the legitimate city employes, too, were systematically looted of assessments and contributions for Pendergast's organization and his personal funds. He was betting hundreds of thousands of dollars on the races, and much of that money represented privation in the homes of his own henchmen and actual workers in the city's service.

The Journal-Post, under new management, has competed briskly with the Star in the latter and more scandalous phases of the crusade, but journalism snoozed for years while Pendergast and McElroy were operating the most arrogant and ruthless robbery of a city that has been discovered since the revelations of Lincoln Steffens.

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—If I may be so blunt, I dislike Orson Welles already. And I've never met him.

This is patently unfair. I cite it only because I think Hollywood is being equally unfair—and for the same reasons, I believe, which I am about to confess.

Welles is a boy genius—complete with beard. He is 24. Aside from his sensational adventure as an ether Martian, he has accomplished more brilliant and daring deeds in the theater than any five men have a right to.

On top of that, he wrangles a movie contract as producer and actor. As producer, he can name his director, and he has named Welles. He also has power to select his story (Joseph Conrad's "Heart of Darkness") and as producer he can take part in the scripting, which he is doing.

In his casting, which he began by assigning himself a dual role, he has committed a deliberate affrontery to Hollywood by calling on associates from his Mercury theater. Incidentally, he has assisted on modeling his sets, and otherwise set himself up as a one-man band of picture-making.

That he undertakes these tasks while laboring on his regular air program is the final insult to the local gentry. Young Welles is highly irregular. He is only 24.

Now your reporter is "over 24." Unlike Irene Rich, who admits to "over 40," he has no limitless supplies of grape beverage (adv.) to keep him ecstatically young, and his expectations of awakening some morning smitten by genius are nil.

These deficiencies I share with too large a portion of Hollywood, a place not lacking in "geniuses" who, sustained by yes-men, marvel constantly at the kindly providence which bestowed them upon the film industry.

Ergo and therefore I—and Hollywood—dislike Orson Welles.

I recall no single newcomer from Broadway, who has been the target of so many barbed and belittlin' items of gossip.

Welles is supposed to have pouted over the grave matter of going to Shirley Temple's house (instead of having Shirley come to Welles) for some still pictures of the two together. Welles' aides indignantly deny this, citing a denial from Shirley's mamma.

World-shaking items on the man have included his alleged importation from New York of his favorite shaving lotion. Then, with a sanctimonious tut-tut, there's the one that he has dictated notes while clad only in a bath towel. And didn't he have a god-complex when he paid $150 for a special post-midnight showing of a movie he wanted to see? (The Welles Defense corps, represented by an ex-New Yorker named Herb Drake, says it was $25, the amount he'd have had to pay for a studio projection room showing.)

There are more of the same, which will have no bearing whatever on the ultimate quality of the film Welles will make. The point is that, regardless of all else, Orson Welles is being pilloried for his youth and his past successes.

You will understand, however, that this is no brief for a man I have never met. I dislike him. Come to think of it, I detest him.

Dick Tracy--Time Marches On — IN COLOR ON SUNDAY — By Chester Gould

WELL, PROFESSOR, HOW DO YOU LIKE THE LOCATION OF YOUR SHOP?
OH, IT'S ALL RIGHT.
I SEE THE POLICE ARE HAVING QUITE AN ARGUMENT AMONG THEMSELVES, TRYING TO DECIDE WHETHER THE MAN THEY TOOK OUT OF THE BURNING BUILDING IS YOU OR THE BUTCHER.
I DON'T LIKE THAT STOOGE! THAT KILLING WAS UNCALLED FOR.
IF ONLY I COULD RUB THIS ADHESIVE TAPE OFF MY MOUTH, I MIGHT BE ABLE TO CALL SOME ONE.
BUT IT'S NO USE! GEE! HOW LOUD THE TICK OF MY WRIST WATCH SOUNDS DOWN IN THIS WELL! HM? A LITTLE WATCH, TOO!
TICK TICK TICK
YES-A LITTLE WATCH...JUST A SIMPLE LITTLE WRIST WATCH.

Draw Up Schedule At Y Tonight

Managers and sponsors of teams in the City Class A basketball league will complete plans for the 1939-40 season at a meeting at the Y. M. C. A. at 8:30 p. m. today.

It is important that every team be represented at the meeting as the schedule will be drawn up and eligibility lists approved.

Ohio State Champ In Statistics, Too.

CHICAGO—(AP)—Ohio State was the Big Ten football champion, statistically speaking, as well as in the Won-Lost column. The Bucks, playing six games in the conference, scored more points than any other team, 156, and allowed fewer, 41. They also led in total net yards gained with 1,750 and allowed their six foes only 902 yards from scrimmage, less than the total yardage yielded by any other team. Ohio State also led in punting, Don Scott and other Buck kickers averaging 42.2 yards for 43 punts.

League Opens Friday

Bellville Favorite in This Season's Title Race; Opens With Union.

By CHARLES MARTIN

THE thud of a dribble as a youth sprints over the hardwood, the swish of the ball as it slips through the net and the bang of a wild shot rattling the backboards will echo through a number of Richland county high school gymnasiums this week.

* * *

Although the Mansfield high Tygers won't swing into action under their new coach, Vern Hoffman, until Dec. 8, there'll be plenty of action for the county league fans Friday night.

Interest in the opening hostilities in the county championship race will center at Lucas where the Cubs will open defense of their 1938-39 title by entertaining Coach John Reese's Lexington Minutemen on the new Lucas court.

Madison township court fans will focus their eyes on Butler as Mentor Al Fendrick unfolds the Madison high quintet in a tussle with Bob Burgett's lanky Bulldogs.

In the other loop setto the Bluejays of Bellville high, making their debut under W. L. Miley, and preseason favorites to topple Lucas out of the throne room, plays hosts to Union high

A non-league tilt Friday night tosses Orrville Kibler's Ontario high Warriors against Plymouth at Ontario.

* * *

Other games of interest in this district find New Haven playing at Greenwich Thursday night. Loudonville trekking to Ashland high, Mt. Gilead tackling Edison high at Edison, and Iberia invading Chesterville in Friday night contests.

MOUNT UNION CAGERS FACE HEAVY SCHEDULE

ALLIANCE—(AP)—Mount Union college cagers trained today for the heaviest basketball schedule of the colleges' history. The Mounts open their 22-game season Dec. 12 against Washington Jefferson college at Alliance, and meet Penn State at home Jan. 1. Other games include 14 other conference contests, eight of them at home; a home and home series with Kent State and Baldwin-Wallace; and a single game with Wooster.

Fights at Friendly House

Ernie McKinley, crack Ashland featherweight, is pictured above as he prepares to send a few hard punches at the punching bag in a training session at the Friendly House. McKinley will clash with Norbert Kolbe, 125, of Fremont, in one of the three-round bouts on the winter boxing card at the settlement Wednesday night. The two lads tangled last year with McKinley emerging with a close decision. The show will be headlined by a five-round match between Jake Zacharias, 157, of the Friendly House and Micky McGuire, 160, of Columbus.

Sign Indian

Princess White Cloud

Bout to Co-Headline Card at Armory Thursday.

Making good on its promise to offer one of the season's outstanding wrestling attractions here Thursday night, the local Quality Club announced today that it had signed Princess Rose White Cloud, a full-blood Cherokee Indian girl, to meet nationally famous Wilma Gordon. The feminine bout will co-headline with Tuffy Cleet's all-important clash with Gil Kuntsen of Toronto, Canada.

Princess Rose White Cloud is unquestionably the finest feminine wrestler to come forward in the past two years and mat critics all over the country are predicting that she will one day defeat champion Mildred Burke. The Quality Club is anxious to see just how well the little Injun does wrestle and has accordingly signed her against one of the most rugged ladies in the sport.

In addition to owning a spendid knowledge of th mat game, Princess Rose can also claim the distinction of being the most beautiful girl now campaigning in mat circles. Winner of several beauty contests, she has taken the public by storm wherever she had appeared.

Wilma Gordon has often been called the "police-woman" of feminine wrestling. It's an acknowledged fact that a lassie can't get a shot at Miss Burke's title unless she first disposes of Wilma. Few have been able to accomplish that feat, for the fiery little Gordon girl is as tough as they come.

The Gordon-White Cloud tangle, coupled with the feature already signed between Cleet and Knutsen, makes Thursday's cards one of the choice offerings in the state this week

HONOR SIX OHIOANS

BLOOMINGTON, Ind.—(AP)—Six Ohioans today wore letters because of their football prowess at Indiana university. They were Hursh, of Middletown, Kenneth Smith, of Piqua, and Harold L. Alfred A. Bragalone and Joseph J. Tofil, of Campbell; Harry Brooks, of Dayton, Harold J. Zimmer of Springfield.

CROWELL DISQUALIFIED

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—(AP)—Jack Lowe, [illegible], defeated Chuck Crowell, [illegible], Los Angeles, when latter was disqualified for hitting low in second.

PLAN SEASON TONIGHT

Managers and captains of teams in the Y. M. C. A. Church basketball leagues meet at the 'Y' at 7:30 p. m. today to complete plans for the season. Don Cram, physical director, requested that all clubs be represented at the session.

Feller, Trosky Seek Increase

CLEVELAND — (INS) — There were indications today that Bob Feller and Hal Trosky will be holdouts unless they are offered more money by the Cleveland Indians.

* * *

Although Cy Slapnicka, club vice-president, said they were not holdouts because he had not offered them contracts, there were reports that both players refused to accept terms in a conference with Slapnicka at Des Moines, Ia.

* * *

Feller was the Indians' best pitcher last season and drew $20,000 and a bonus based on home attendance. Trosky, a first baseman, was paid about $15,000.

BUCKEYES OPEN COURT SEASON WITH OTTERBEIN

CHICAGO —(AP)— Ohio State, with the Big Ten football crown tucked away among its treasured possessions, turns now to the defense of its basketball championship.

The Buckeyes, who won the conference title a year ago and finished second in the N. C. A. A. tournament, open their court season Dec. 7 against Otterbein. Two Big Ten teams—Iowa and Minnesota—make their initial appearance of the season this week. The Hawkeyes engage Carleton at Mason City, Ia., and Minnesota plays North Dakota State at Minneapolis, both games on Saturday.

KAYOED BY MILLARD

LOUISVILLE, Ky.—(AP)—Andy Newell, 181, Union City, O., was knocked out last night by Buddy Millard, 188, Louisville, in the second round of a semi-final bout scheduled for 10 rounds.

BAGS TROPICAL GAME

JAMESTOWN, N. Y.—(AP)—Wiliam Fitzgerald went squirrel hunting and bagged a monkey on his first shot. The simian had escaped about six weeks ago from a Greenhurst home.

Schoolmasters, J. A. C. Pace Tight Pin Race

Lead League Cellar Teams By Only Five Games; Eddie Meder High With 642.

ONLY FIVE GAMES separated the first-place Schoolmaster and Junior Association of Commerce teams from the cellar Mansfield Savings Bank and American Legion clubs after last night's bowling in the Club league at the Meder alleys.

Jim Wallace smashed out a 603 to lead the J. A. C. club to three victories over the Kiwanians and a tie for first place with the Schoolmasters, who dropped two decisions to the Tracy & Avery club.

Eddie Meder of the Page Dairys led the individual scoring with a count of 642. This score enabled the Dairys to take three games from the Richman Clothes.

The Liederkranz club was again high in the team scoring bracket with a 2748, but the Lumbermans Mutual Insurancemen took three games with a good-sized handicap.

Art Hilborn came through with 615 as the Optimists annexed three wins at the expense of the Mansfield Savings Bank. The Commercial Managers took two games from the American Legion in the other series.

* * *

Murer of the Hecht & Casey Coals hit 600 on the nose as he paced the scoring in the Commercial C league. He led his team to a sweep over the Musille Cigars.

PLAY COLORED CLASSIC

TALLAHASSEE, Fla.— (AP) — Wiley College of Marshall, Tex., and Florida A. & M. were named today to play in the seventh annual Orange Blossom game—the Blue Ribbon event of colored post-season football—at Orlando, Fla., Dec. 9.

CHAMP BEATS HALLY

TORONTO — Dave Castilloux, 135, Canadian featherweight champion, outpointed Wally Hally, 138, Los Angeles, (10).

Death Claims Inventor of Court Sport

LAWRENCE, Kan. — (AP) — Dr. James A. Naismith, 78, inventor of basketball, died at 1:50 a. m. today of heart disease following a cerebral hemorrhage.

Dr. Naismith, professor emeritus of physical education at Kansas university, suffered a critical hemorrhage Nov. 19 but rallied and returned home from a hospital last Wednesday. He was stricken again Friday with a heart attack. He had been in a coma since noon yesterday.

With two peach baskets as equipment, Dr. Naismith originated basketball in 1891 as a winter sport for youths at the Springfield, Mass., Y. M. C. A. training school.

There were nine men on a team and baskets were on the floor. Later he elevated the baskets, reduced the number of players and established rules which have been changed but little in the intervening years.

Willard Gridder Named Captain

Fullback Langhurst Elected at Annual Banquet; Johnny Hallabrin Receives Letter.

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—Jim Langhurst, a modest but determined young man from Willard, O., pledged himself today to perpetuate the "Ohio State spirit" awakened in Buckeye athletics by Jimmy Hull and Steve Andrako.

The mild-mannered junior fullback was elected captain of the 1940 Ohio State football team to succeed Andrako who led the current Scarlet and Gray gridders to the first undisputed Big Ten football title at Ohio State in 19 years.

"We hope to bring back both the national and the conference championship next year," promised Langhurst, "and we especially want to get back our pants from Michigan." (Every Ohio football team that beats Michigan receives pant emblems.)

The new Buckeye leader was introduced to more than 1,000 students and downtown fans at the annual appreciation dinner for the football squad on the campus last night.

The influence of the new "spirit" was the unofficial theme of the victory celebration only slightly dimmed by memory of a Michigan defeat in the final game Saturday. Governor John W. Bricker, Coach Francis A. Schmidt, Andrako and the other speakers all referred to the "will-to-win" qualities displayed by this year's squad. Hull, the youth who lighted the fire on the basketball court last winter, was quietly in the background.

Langhurst's hopes for a winning team next fall were garnished by the fact that 19 of the 34 players receiving letters last night will return in 1940. Claude White, reserve center and letter winner last fall, also will be available. He failed to see any action this year because of a wrist injury.

* * *

The letter awards were given to:

Seniors—Captain Andrako, Ross Bartschy, Victor Marino, Esco Sarkkinen, Howard Wedebrook, Richard Wuellner, Frank Zadworney, Stuart Whitehead, Jerry Spears and Johnny Rabb.

Juniors—Andy Rosen, Frank Clair, Jim Langhurst, Charley Maag, Biss Nosker, Don Scott, Jim Strausbaugh, Jim Sexton.

Seniors (service awards and letters for three years of service)—Campbell Graf, John Simone, Amel Tucci, Tom Welbaum, Joe Madro, and Wilbur Williams, manager.

OUTPOINTS CARTER

WEIRTON, W. Va.—Mike Raffa, 131, Newell, W. Va., outpointed Jackie Carter, 132, Pittsburgh, (10).

We guarantee the payments shown in this table to be the full amount you will pay back, when payments are made on schedule. The faster you pay, the less the total cost.

One price to all

These payments are calculated at Household's new reduced rates of 2½% monthly on balances up to $300 and 6% yearly on balances over $300 to $500. These rates are less than legal maximum, and we guarantee are the same to everyone—one price to all. Only borrowers sign—no endorsers on any loan. No credit inquiries of friends or relatives. STEELS PILOT EXCHANGE IN QUIET RALLY

Industry's High Rate of Operation Stimulating Factor in Advance.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Steels piloted the stock market on a quiet rally today and leaders pushed up fractions to more than a point.

Among favorites were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Youngstown, Chrysler, General Motors, Douglas Aircraft, Sperry, J. I. Case, Western Union, American Smelting, Westinghouse, General Electric, Southern Railway common and preferred, N. Y. Central, Union Carbide, Johns-Manville and Eastman Kodak.

Buying in steels followed overnight announcement U. S. Steel's principal subsidiary, Carnegie-Illinois, would continue present prices in the first quarter of next year. This week's high operating rate of the industry also was seen as a stimulating factor.

In addition to the treasury's new $500,000,000 bond offering, in which small investors are given an opportunity to subscribe, interest was shown in the federal reserve figures for the week ended last Wednesday disclosing loans to commerce, industry and agriculture climbed $26,000,000. Since the outbreak of the European conflict this item has risen $392,000,000.

Cheering was word from automobile manufacturing centers that despite the Chrysler labor shut-down, movement of new cars into the hands of retail purchasers is proceeding at a high level, with the outlook for the balance of the year considered optimistic.

'YOU'RE FIRST,' JOBLESS TOLD

Cleveland Mayor Ready to Cut City Services to Feed Hungry Reliefers.

WPA to add 10,000 men to its rolls here.

Earlier Burton and Toledo officials had denied a charge made at Columbus that certain larger Ohio cities "made no sincere effort" to raise funds locally for relief.

B. D. Lecklider, president of the inter-organization conference composed of business representatives, made the charge declaring "the state has met its responsibilities under the relief laws."

Gov. Bricker summoned a group of Ohio newspaper editors to a conference today on the problem.

Police Capt. Eugene Aufmuth said three squad cars were dispatched to city hall when the crowd gathered, but that police experienced "no trouble."

Demonstrations at relief stations have been frequent, a group of hungry clients starting an all-night "sit-down" at one office last week.

SYNOPSIS

The Characters:

Fabienne Seymour, rich, young and beautiful.

Nicky Bartlett, wealthy and in love with Fabienne.

Ellen Chapman, young and capable mistress of Willoughby house.

Yesterday: Ellen tells Fabienne about "Bill."

CHAPTER SEVEN

Fabienne had been a member of the staff of Willoughby house for nearly three months the November day the Children's clinic opened in the east wing. The three months had passed more swiftly than she had expected. In spite of herself she had become interested in the variety of tasks to which she was assigned. She had progressed from reading classes to dramatic groups. She'd served a trick at recreation directing and she was now assigned to office work.

She had first found the office work tedious, but the staff was short and she had taken it on without complaint.

The afternoon of the opening of the clinic she found an interesting office duty; she was tabulating the monies subscribed for maintenance. Ideas were beginning to come to her whereby the sums might be increased when a crisp voice roused her from her reverie over her figures The voice said:

"Hey, Miss! You!"

Fabienne Willoughby Seymour looked up, an expression of annoyance sharply etched on her patrician features.

Annoyance gave way to surprise and then a kind of appreciation as her eyes met the figure of a tall, broad-shouldered young man in a white coat.

"Were you speaking to me "

"I was."

Fabienne's memory turned up a line she had read somewhere· "The proportions of the room seemed to diminish when he came into it." Proportions or no proportions, she decided that this young man needed flattering. She flashed a look at him that should have done it, and coolly resumed her figuring.

But she felt his eyes commanding her attention and she had to look at him

"You can drop that," he said "You're needed in the clinic" He turned on his heel and left.

"Miss Huxley is assigned to the clinic," she called after him. She began to arrange her cards neatly.

He came back to the door. "I said you were needed in the clinic," he repeated. "There is no one to receive the patients. Come at once, please "

A heated answer came to her tongue, but it would have been wasted, since he had already left. She put her papers in a desk drawer and went over to the clinic.

The receiving room was already filling with patients. Fabienne sat down at the desk and looked at a pile of papers which she saw were intended to be used as histories Each was marked with questions and each was headed:

The voice said: "Hey! Miss! You!"

Orthopedic Clinic — Dr. J. W. Mallory.

She said, "Who is first, please?"

A woman with a child who wore a heavy brace on a wasted leg came first. Fabienne referred to her question sheet.

The doctor opened the door. "All right, Miss . . . Miss?" Fabienne grinned wickedly to herself without supplying her name. The doctor said, "I'm ready."

Fabienne directed the first patient in.

There were sixteen patients, and it was six when the last one was finished and Dr. Mallory opened the door to the reception room and came into it. Fabienne didn't look at him as she put the papers in the drawer and slammed it loudly. She swept the desk top clear of pencils.

"You working tonight?" the doctor asked.

"I beg your pardon?" she said.

"If you are, you'd better set the desk for Dr. Hopkins. He takes the evening clinic. And this place will have to be cleaned up." His eyes swept the untidy room. The wall chairs that had been arranged in an orderly row were now disarranged; the floor was littered with bits of papers. There was a pile of peanut shells in one corner, an apple core on the window sill.

"Certainly," she said sweetly "If you'll excuse me while I change to overalls, I'll be right back with my pail and mop."

"Sorry, Princess," he said, and smiled. A nice, showy, disarming smile. "Cigaret?" he said, offering her a package.

Fabienne wanted one but she said, "No, thank you, Dr. Mallory," in a tone that was no more than formal.

"I guess I was a bit abrupt upstairs. You know how it is when we're in a hurry around here. There were a lot of poor youngsters waiting."

"One might still be polite," she said in a chilly voice.

"One might," he agreed: "Sometimes a busy doctor has to skip amenities. Next time I'll present my credentials, Miss Seymour."

So, he knew who she was after all.

• • • •

She sat back in her chair and gave him a long, cool scrutinizing look that heretofore had reduced her men to bleating or babbling. Dr. Mallory, however, did neither. He sat on the corner of her desk with one long leg thrown over it and enjoyed his cigaret. He was not, she saw at once, going to be reduced to anything.

"Did you take time out from your important patients to find out who I was?" she asked pointedly.

"No, I remembered suddenly. Young Tomassino, one of my patients, treasurers a photograph of you. He showed it to me. I've been very curious about you."

"Really?" The way she said it was meant to indicate that she wasn't at all interested.

"Yes. I wondered what impelling motive brought you here."

"I'm afraid I'm going to disappoint you, Doctor. I am not consumed with love for suffering humanity, disappointed in love or working for my livelihood. That rather leaves me without any interesting motive, doesn't it?"

"On the contrary, I expect the reason you don't want to talk about it would be very interesting. However, we'll skip it." He smiled again. "When one works zealously and unselfishly as you have around here, it's usually because there's some kind of unselfish love back of it."

Ohio Girl Turns Racket-Buster to Blast 'Slots,' Student Football Pools.

(By Associated Press)

KENT.—Petite Betty Crampton of Cleveland, 21-year-old Kent State university junior who wants to teach journalism, has turned "racket buster."

The Kent Stater, school publication issued thrice weekly, recently criticized city and county authorities, asserting slot machines gobbled student nickels. The blast brought results.

Then Betty, in charge of the Stater's Friday edition, wrote a page one editorial.

"We have some housecleaning to do at home," she said. "Certainly the university is no place for football pools. Let college students who sell this 'racket' be disciplined."

Results?

"We nipped it in the bud," reports Betty.

Man Walks Into Police Station to 'Give Himself Up' To Law.

HOUSTON, Tex. — (AP) — "I want to surrender," said a mild-eyed, middle-aged fellow who walked up to Traffic Patrolman J. E. Armstrong. Armstrong eyed him carefully for earmarks of the criminal.

"What you wanted for?" he said skeptically.

"Traffic tickets," said the man, soberly.

Armstrong went with him to the police station where he paid for five over-parking transgressions.

Madison Juniors Present Comedy Tomorrow

Shown just before a rehearsal are 10 members of the junior class at Madison high school who will stage the three-act comedy, "That Crazy Smith Family," at 8 p. m. Wednesday in the high school auditorium. They are seated, left to right, Dorothy Butler, Marilyn Stauffer, Alice Priess, Mary Mihailoff, Eleanor Harrison and Olive Jean Hughes. Standing, left to right, Walter Weimer, Russell Price, William Fulmer, Jack Amos, and Miss Lenore Mills, English teacher and play director. Frank Drako and Henry Lantz two other members of the cast, were absent when the picture was taken.

WASTED EFFORT

Beavers Chew 'Down' Fence But Wire Foils Them.

PUEBLO, Colo. — (AP) — Bill Rutherford, CCC camp foreman, tells about the beaver colony that mistook a fence for an aspen grove.

"Beaver store aspen bark for food," says Rutherford. "A rancher on Willow Creek built a fence and used green aspen for posts.

"The beaver tried to fell the posts, severing them at the base, but the wires held them upright. The animals tried again, this time severing the posts higher. Still the posts remained upright.

"They are busy yet trying to fell those 'trees' and it appears they have set themselves an all winter task."

BRITISH TO TRY 'GIRO AIRPLANES

LONDON—(AP)—The air ministry has ordered seven autogiro aircraft for experimental flying in the belief that they may be useful in districts where landing and take-off space is restricted.

The new machines may be flown off an area little bigger than a tennis court and can "jump" vertically between 12 and 15 feet. They can be landed in a correspondingly small space.

STATE NAMED BY KENTUCKIAN

OLYMPIA, Wash —(AP)— The state of Washington is celebrating its 50th anniversary, and it is doing so under that name only because of a Kentuckian.

Delegates who engineered the secession from Oregon petitioned Congress to name the new territory "Columbia." But Rep. Stanton of Kentucky had a different idea and put through an amendment to the congressional bill.

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 28, 1939.

Cross word puzzlers have probably already discovered that the 12-letter word meaning thief is "kleptomaniac."

Again comes the disappointed shopper who finds that postage stamps cost as much at the cut-rate store as they do at the postoffice.

A letter written in 1808, in which Thomas Jefferson declined a third term, has just been sold at auction for $775—and one along the same line written right now would also have value.

Errors In Social Security Accounts

DISCLOSURE that several million workers covered by the federal social security law have been given a "John Doe" listing because of inaccurate records evidences the slipshod way in which this department is being administered and the scant attention being given to individual cases.

It also emphasizes the importance of every employe keeping an accurate account of all wages paid to him, with name of employer and the exact period covered. Such a record may prove very important to the employe when he becomes a beneficiary, although it may seem a waste of time when it is being kept.

A tremendous amount of work is undoubtedly involved in compiling and checking the records of almost thirty million workers in the United States, but it is of vital importance to each worker that his record be accurately kept, especially in instances of changing employers, which seems to open the way for many of the errors and inaccuracies that have been discovered.

Making sure to retain one social security number and always giving a name in precisely the same way when changing from one job to another are pointed out as being essentials to accurate bookkeeping in the social security offices in Washington.

It is suggested that workers who have changed jobs since the social security system began operating in 1937 and who have not kept their own record ask the social security board for a statement of account to date, to make sure they are not among the "John Doe" listings.

More Traffic Law Violators

COMPARING October and November records, in the matter of issuance of tags for violation of traffic laws, the suspicion grows that the October minimum of 92 was not due to any sudden decision of Mansfield motorists to observe parking restrictions but was in some way associated with the election that was then approaching.

Finding their car "tagged" for a traffic violation is undoubtedly annoying to violators of this particular law, just as more serious offenders incline to resent the laws with which their misbehavior brings them in conflict.

Time limits for parking on various streets are established for public convenience and should be voluntarily conformed to without need for police enforcement—but not all motorists will do this, and some even go to the extent of sponging off the chalk mark made by a traffic officer.

One sure thing, however, is that if there is to be enforcement of traffic regulations it should be consistently maintained day after day instead of being an occasional activity.

School Funds Here and Elsewhere

NO SURPRISE was occasioned by the item in yesterday's News-Journal which told of the condition of Mansfield and Richland county public school funds and gave assurance that city and county schools were in financial position to continue to operate on regular schedules throughout the remainder of the year.

Without inclination to be adversely critical of other less fortunate cities, but merely as a warning of the danger of overplaying population gains, reference is made to Toledo, where public schools have been closed until January 1, because of no money being available, and to Cleveland, where schools are to be kept open by deferring payments of school employes for the final six weeks of the year.

It appears that early this year the Cleveland board of education voted restoration of previous pay cuts to teachers, without having funds sufficient to meet the added costs, and that the problems of 1940 will be much the same as this year.

While there is a natural feeling of sympathy with Cleveland in its relief plight and in its difficulties in school financing, there is also an inclination over Ohio to feel that much of the trouble now being encountered traces to earlier emphasis on growth of population rather than on development of a self-sustaining citizenship, and that present problems are largely local rather than demanding legislation burdensome to taxpayers of the entire state.

An occupational tax, such as was at one time found necessary in Mansfield, might be made to serve Cleveland's present need and might also induce a closer scrutiny of public expenditures.

Hot-and-Cold Stratosphere

AN ASTRONOMER declares that the stratosphere is not all so icy cold as balloon observations made in the past have seemed to prove.

Using a new device which observes the speed of meteors, Dr. Fred L. Whipple of Harvard has found evidence that the temperature up beyond the clouds varies. It is 55 degrees below zero up in the twenty-mile layer. Beyond that it begins to grow warmer until, at thirty-eight miles, the temperature has reached 212 degrees Fahrenheit. Still farther out from the earth the temperature drops once more, reaching 90 degrees below zero at fifty miles. At seventy miles, however, it is up to room temperature.

Maybe this is so—and the idea is interesting—but there are so many things closer home to demand attention that discussion of stratosphere temperature is not likely to arouse any great enthusiasm for the time being.

Nature's Laws Are Inexorable

ANSWERING the question of a 17-year-old girl, as to how to keep her eyes "clear and shining," Dr. Clendening said: "The eyes are bright and shining when we are alert and interested. Keep your soul bright and shining and the eyes will respond. To keep your soul bright and shining, you must not contaminate your body. Cultivate good food, plain living and healthful outdoor exercise."

Character study offers no finer opportunity for those interested than to observe the certain penalties which Nature inflicts on those who violate her laws of right living, and those who think they are fooling Mother Nature are merely kidding themselves.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—The lights weren't very bright. They never are. Bright lights aren't flattering to the complexion of ladies and orchids after midnight.

On the floor, huddled around a microphone, were four big Negroes, dressed like Red Caps. On the stand were nine men and a girl—the orchestra.

At a table nearby sat the "professor," who looked as if he should be able to make excellent Turkish coffee, but who dealt in mystics. He could read your hand in a most convincing tone. Near him was a girl who evidently had once been to Paris, for she kept saying, "But, yes—but, yes." There was a football scout two tables away who had just been taking some gloomy notes on a slaughter in one of the stadiums that afternoon.

NOW, what I am getting at is this . . . all of these people, and a hundred others, were doing their stuff at one and the same time. . . . If you are nice and sane and normal, it is probable that you could sit in this club and see only one thing at a time. You would give your interest to the quartet, who were having a lot of fun with something about a Memphis dock hand loose in Harlem. . . . You could listen attentively to the mind-reader, whose Van Dyke would have been the envy of a Russian general. You could have talked with—and heard nothing else—than the football scout. All this, of course, if you are an average, normal person.

But there are peculiar people on Broadway who live in stuffy cafes, because allergic to sunlight and fresh air, and have kaleidoscopic minds. Being nuts, these people can drink it all in—and it does make sense to them but it sounds to anyone else like Gertrude Stein in a serious moment, which is another way of saying utterly senseless.

THE din of a nightclub is a series of sounds superimposed, like new skin over the eardrum, and if you can imagine anything like this, here's the way it goes: "You are emotional but emotional madame and should guard against guard against excitement—men in a mousetrap where the down field blocking is weak in Paris. But yes. The spinners were spinning and the jah-de-dah te-he Ohme in Har-r-r-r-LAM BAM SAM yes MAM and this line. Ah Madame yes it does this line indicates a man in your past and two passes and seven passes and all incomplete and two interceptions. But yes. In Paris we do it this way down yonder in HAR-R-R-R-LAM yeah MAN power they've got too much manpower they're three deep at the guards and tackles and the golden sun on Notre Dame was like the sweet. But Yes of shadow neurosis. . . ."

Maybe you get it. If you don't, don't worry. The time to worry is when these things seem clear to you, and make sense. Then it is time for you to reach for your bonnet and get as far away from Our Town as you can get. If you don't, you'll fall for a mousetrap sure. But yes.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Friday, Nov. 28, 1919.

Fifteenth semi-annual reunion of Mansfield Masonic council was held with almost one hundred candidates receiving superexcellent degree.

Dr. W. A. Smith came to Mansfield from Shelby and opened office on North Mulberry street.

Birthday surprise party was given for Eula Long at her home on East First street.

Chief of Police McClure went to Detroit to bring back prisoner charged with forgery.

C. N. Allerding was granted patent on automobile steering wheel.

Isaac Bright, former Mansfield resident, was killed by interurban car in Cleveland.

Sixteen little friends attended birthday party given for Martha Gurney.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Wednesday, Nov. 28, 1934.

Joseph J. Haupt, 224 West Third street, was seriously injured in automobile accident. Minor accidents also caused injuries to Matt Hager and Paul Duff.

Births reports: Daughter to Mr. and Mrs. James Rizer, 19 Ruth avenue; son to Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Welsh, 19 Buckingham street.

Frank Fisch of Mansfield was elected president of O. S. U. junior class.

A. E. Allen, vice president of Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, announced plans to transform the "Home of Tomorrow," in Woodland, into a home economics institute.

Approaching marriage of Grace G. Ness to Forrest V. Patterson of Galion, was announced.

TODAY IN HISTORY

The first U. S. government postoffice was opened in New York City on November 28, 1783.

MARY'S LITTLE LAMB

(And Everywhere That Mary Went the Lamb Was Sure to Go.)

Listen, World!

"My Life Is But a Weaving—"

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

LIFE—strange how its meaning changes as you go along! Or, rather, your understanding of it.

Are you seventeen? Then life is still half adventure tale, half dream. Sometimes intensely real—catching you up in tingling ecstacies, hurling you down in desperate despondencies, whirling you about in violent furies. And the next moment—as vague and distant as a desert mirage, unsubstantial, eluding physical and mental grasp?

But always, at seventeen, life is intensely personal. You realize there are other people on earth.. other experiences than yours. But they have no place in your consciousness save as they affect you personally. They do not make you laugh, cry, brood or burn. Life means YOU—at seventeen.

Are you twenty-seven? Life, if you're normal, has changed at twenty-seven. It is no longer so dream like. It has become much more real—painfully real. You no longer complain that you "can't understand it." You're beginning to feel that you understand it all too well.

You clearly see—or think you see—its heartlessness and hopelessness. Sometimes you rail against it. More often, you resign yourself to sour cynicism—or embittered indifference. There are times—too many times—when you hate life and conclude that it isn't worth living.

As you grow older this feeling is apt to harden about you, like a shell. You think you're growing wiser. You boast that you're becoming sophisticated. . . . philosophical. But you're not. You're simply drying up!

Though you do not realize it, you're seeing life from as childish a viewpoint as you did at seventeen. You're still regarding it as a purely personal problem. And from that viewpoint life becomes an increasingly petty and pesty affair. The ignorance and curiosity which lent it such a lovely glamour at seventeen have passed away. Now you see only the ugly "realities" . . . the harsh personal frustrations and disappointments. Weren't you a fool to think that living would be a great adventure!

No, you weren't! Life IS a great adventure. It should, and might, go on being a greater, and more glorious adventure, to the end of our days. But we, ourselves, wreck the adventure.

We wreck it by limiting it. Where we might explore jungles and vault headlong through the stars we insist upon staying in the cramped back yard of our own personal problems. Presently we know every boring detail of the shabby environment. Then stagnation begins.

But the wonder and eagerness of life's dawning would return if we could look beyond ourselves and our own small experience... try to see human experience as a whole . . . stretch our imaginations to include some vision of the vast plan of which our individual careers are a part . . . catch a glimpse, however dim and fleeting, of that Source from which it all proceeds.

Once when I was rebelling against the smallness and futility of life, a wise friend gave me this verse:

"My life is but a weaving
Between my God and me,
I may but choose the colors,
He worketh steadily:
Full oft he weaveth sorrow,
And I in foolish pride,
Forget He seeth the upper,
And I the lower side."

Pretty poetry? No, much more than that—eternal truth. Not just "religious truth" for the "church people." Truth for the man in the street as well as the priest in the pulpit.

Existence, for every human being, is more than a succession of personal experiences. It is a weaving between God—Life—and the spirit of man. Not an aimless weaving. Steadily—out of our tears and laughter, our rages and dreams—there grows bit by bit, a design.

We cannot see it in our own lives. But, if we will turn away from ourselves, we can see it growing in the lives of others. And sometimes, for an instant, see the Hands at work.

Where is the cure for that bitter sense of smallness and uselessness in your life? There—in the longer look!

Everyday Poem

—By GEORGE ELLISTON

"Young As April"

"As young as April," this they said
Of him, whose hair was snow-
Whose cheeks had all the color of
A rosy apple's glow.

Youth—what is it? Of what is it
Composed? Flesh is but part
Of youth; real youth was ever of
The inner self, the heart.

His heart was young, the twinkle in
His eyes, a shining light,
Defeated wrinkles, gloom and dark
That make old age's night.

Health And Diet

Drinking Glass Spreads Disease.

—By DR. CLENDENING

Is the idea, once prevalent, that the common drinking glass spreads disease still held by health officers?

It is and very intensive campaigns to insure cleanliness of drinking glasses used at soda fountains and in saloons is being carried out in many states.

"Prohibition of the unsanitized utensil in public places," says Dr. Harold J. Knapp, "especially eating and drinking establishments, is one of the most effective safeguards by means of which an official health agency can protect its citizenry against the hazards of certain communicable diseases. Other essentials are employes free from disease, and a sanitary environment for their endeavors."

The inspectors do not have to use bacteriological apparatus to determine the efficiency with which glasses are cleaned. They use swabs, soap, chemicals and occasionally a microscope. A sanitary environment for the employe is a self-evident necessity since the dirty, ill-kept establishment encourages slovenly practices in the employe. A well-kept scrupulously-clean eating or drinking place not only stimulates employes to good food-handling practice, but also encourages patronage.

Mechanical devices and chemical products, however, are not substitutes for the common sense application of long-known principles of cleansing procedures, such as adequate and safe hot and cold water supplies, ample detergents and a willingness on the part of the employes to expend physical energy.

What is the psychology that makes a nurse fall in love with her patient, and vice versa?

The idea haunts jealous wives when hubby is sick, but the verses of my friend, C. M. C., should dispel all fears:

"Fear not the young nurse who stands by the side
Of your man, when he's sick
and in pain,
For after a siege with his
grunts and his groans.
She'll give him up gladly
again.

To her, he's a bulk to be freed
of its pain,
Just a means of her own
daily bread.
He gets egg on his sheet, and
toast in his hair
And his feet dangle out of his bed."

What treatment is used for sties?

Sties are small boils forming around the hair follicles of the eyelashes. They tend to occur when there is astigmatism or badly-fitting glasses. Why, is hard to explain, but is is probably because the eyelids itch then, and rubbing with the fingers brings infection to the edges of the eyelids.

Rubbing of any kind on sties is bad business, so that lets the ancient practice of rubbing with the wedding ring out. Application of cold or heat, until the sty comes to a head, is best. Recurrent sties are usually caused by rubbing;

WASHINGTON Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Most stupendous cocktail party ever held in Washington was staged by Paul McNutt, then the newly appointed high commissioner to the Philippines, and would-be president of the United States. That cocktail party was the most daring piece of political showmanship ever staged in Washington and now, two years later, long-needed political strategists still are debating the wisdom of it.

Whether wise or not, all agree that the strategy of Paul McNutt today has changed. Furthermore, all agree that he-of-the-platinum-hair has made more progress toward the Democratic nomination than any other candidate in the stable.

McNutt's strategy today is subtle, steady and successful. In the first place, he has been doing a good job as federal security administrator. Second, he has visited with small groups of key political leaders in important states. Finally, he has made a strong bid for the inner New Deal circle.

This last move is especially significant. When first appointed security administrator, the Brain Trusters were openly hostile toward McNutt. Now they are thawing out.

In fact, some of his speeches have all the earmarks of being inspired, if not actually written by potent New Deal advisers. Obviously they are written with the idea of laying low the previous reputation that McNutt was conservative and dictatorial.

Note—A recent McNut speech before the Washington unit of the National Lawyers' Guild was a ringing defense of civil liberties.

Wendell Willkie.

BUT while McNutt has been busy courting New Dealers, he hasn't neglected the other side of the political fence. One of his strong supporters is Wendell Willkie, head of Commonwealth and Southern, and the No. 1 foe of Rooseveltian power policies.

Willkie was a classmate of McNutt's at Indiana university, and they have been close friends for years. Neither, however, is advertising the fact that McNutt has Willkie's backing. When the two men were in Cleveland on the same day last week, newspapers playfully speculated that Willkie might run for president himself.

Asked what he thought of General Johnson's nomination of Willkie for president, Willkie replied: "It's the best offer I've had yet."

Privately, Willkie says, with a grin: "Yes, sir; I'm for McNutt, but I'm not saying so for fear it might hurt him."

Note—In school in Indiana, McNutt and Willkie were friendly enemies. McNutt, the son of a prominent judge, was the nattily groomed leader of the fraternity faction; while Willkie, son of a Socialist lawyer, was a rumpled radical who led the "barbarians."

Two Per Cent Club.

ANOTHER tip-off to McNutt's ambitions is the sudden resignation of Frank McHale and Bowman Elder as treasurer and director of the Two Per Cent club. This is the club organized in 1933 during McNutt's first term as Governor, to supply Indiana Democrats with campaign funds. Each appointive office holder is required to contribute two per cent of his salary to the club.

"Pressure of other duties" was the explanation given by McHale and Elder for stepping out, but real reason was to dissociate McNutt's presidential campaign from any connection with the club.

Retired Brain-Trusters.

TWO of the biggest headliners of the early New Deal are back in Washington again, and nobody pays any attention to them. One is the much harried ex-administrator of resettlement, Rex Tugwell; the other, labor department's former crack conciliator, Ed McGrady.

In the late Resettlement days, when the lightning had struck about Tugwell's head, he withdrew from public contacts, became almost inaccessible. Today, he is so accessible that anybody can find his name in the phone book in the Washington suburb of Alexandria, Virginia.

No longer is his telephone unlisted. Tugwell does not even have an individual line, but a two-party line which saves him 75 cents a month over the cost of a private line.

Rex is Washington representative for New York city's planning board. Ed McGrady, whose name was daily news until two years ago, works obscurely in the Translux building in Washington, where, he says, "I'm so unimportant that nobody pays any attention to me."

Still with the Radio Corporation of America, which took him from Washington to New York, McGrady is co-ordinating various phases of RCA activity—manufacturing, radio marine, radio communications, and the National Broadcasting Company.

Justice McReynolds.

BIGGEST judicial speculation in Washingtoin today revolves round the question, "Will Justice McReynolds soon retire from the Supreme Court?"

Seventy-eight years old, McReynolds is now the oldest member of the court. During the Hoover administration he asked his secretary to remain with him one more year because after that he expected to retire. Next year, however, saw Franklin Roosevelt elected president, and ever since, James Clark McReynolds has made no secret of his perverse determination to remain on the bench in order to thwart the menace of the New Deal.

At first he was successful. However, with the gradual death or retirement of his old colleagues, McReynolds finds himself almost alone. The death of Butler leaves him the one sure solid bulwark of conservatism.

However, Roosevelt now has a clear majority on the court, and McReynolds' dissents cannot stop the stream of New Deal opinions. So it would not surprise his friends if McReynolds stepped down from the Supreme Court at the end of the present session.

New Perspective

(A FARMER'S DIARY)

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

THE FARM had much of the charm of my native hills, and made me homesick. I took the family to see it. We parked our car in front of the old bank barn and I pointed out where the overflowing spring had washed a swale across the level field beside the creek.

"But the house," said my wife, "is awful."

I had been afraid she would think so. The house was, indeed, cheap and little and out of tune. It squatted upon the site where once a rambling farmhouse had burned, in tawdry contrast with the quaint bank barn and the contour of the hazy hills. It was the false note in a harmony, the eyesore of an artist to forget.

"Let's look at the land," I suggested. "They say there's some timber on top of the hill."

We left the children with the car and together we climbed the little mountain. It was rough going. Brambles and briers overgrew the way. Upon a gnarled tree, in the remnant of orchard, some bright red apples were hanging upon the ends of twigs. We tasted them. They were nice to look at but pithy and flavorless—oldtime Ben Davises. We went on up the hill. A rabbit jumped from beside a log and hightailed off across the fallen leaves. We stopped to rest where the timber became denser and looked back upon the place from which we had come.

The tops of old maples in the yard half hid the roof of the little homely house. Beside the red bank barn the overflowing spring widened into a pool that gleamed like silver in the sun. The road wound away past a distant white farmhouse across the creek. The low hills about the valley were clothed in haze.

She stood and looked a long time. "It's beautiful," she said. "What a pity that most of the people who pass by will never know how it looks from away up here."

We kept on going until we reached the line fence. Following back, along the timber, we hit a wagon trail which led to the road where we had left the car.

"I'd like to see inside that house," she said, then. "We'd overflow it, but the children would enjoy it here — and so would we if they did."

"That's true," I agreed. "And if the house got entirely too small sometimes, we could leave them there and sneak away up into the hills for a new perspective."

"As long as we can do that, together," she told me, "everything will be all right."

So we took the farm. We expect to move this week.

GERMANS CLAIM NAZI SUB SINKS BRITISH CRUISER

Seizure of Exports by Allies Scheduled to Begin on Next Monday.

search for the fast, powerful German warship would be a relentless one following its victory over the far weaker Rawalpindi, formerly a British luxury liner, which went to the bottom after an unequal but gallant fight against the Deutschland and a second German ship believed to be the cruiser Emden.

Survivors Rescued.

Some survivors from the Rawalpindi arrived today at a west coast English port and a German communique announced that 26 others had been rescued by the Deutschland.

Meanwhile, the toll in shipping exacted by the war mounted still higher when the British steamer Uskmouth was sunk. Three of its 25 crew members were missing.

Nazi Germany warned England today that her overwhelming naval successes of the last few weeks are "merely a sample" of what may be expected in the future.

Competent German quarters predicted that within two months an "absolutely airtight" Nazi blockade would be forged around England, forcing Britain to her knees "as no nation has ever before forced before."

The Nazi government made clear that Britain's decision to seize German exports as a measure of reprisal against German naval warfare would result in the Reich's own counter-measures being "redoubled and intensified."

"We shall fight with all means at our disposal until England has been forced to her knees in a manner that no power has ever been crushed before," a spokesman said.

"The point will soon be reached where no neutral ship will dare to enter an English harbor. Nor will any English ship be able to leave.

"We have the means and the implements to carry out the tightest blockade ever effected in history.

Reports Confirmed.

"Since England will not fight and means only to starve out the Reich, we shall turn the tables upon them."

The German press again lent partial confirmation to British reports of extensive Nazi mine-laying in British waters. The Hamburger Tageblatt boasted of these measures under a heading reading:

"German mine war becomes more effective daily."

BRITISH PUSH PLAN

LONDON — (U.P.) — The allied orders for seizure of German exports on the high seas will become effective Monday despite the complaints of neutrals, Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain announced today in the House of Commons.

The announcement was made soon after King George had opened a new session of parliament with a speech from the throne. The king emphasized that all of the energy of the empire was concentrated on winning the war and declared that the British navy was "keeping open the highways of the sea" for transportation of supplies despite the furious Nazi mine offensive.

The allied powers indicated that every effort would be made to make the hardships of the "double blockade" as light as possible for neutrals.

SEES LEAGUE AS DEMOCRACY AID

Women Voters' Group Leader Addresses Organization Meeting Here.

The answer, she said is in an awakened sense of responsibility as citizens and voters.

"Self government — which is democracy—does not begin in Washington, nor in state capitals," Mrs. Hoffman said. "It begins in homes and in small communities where every woman can have a voice. The League of Women Voters, we believe, trains women how to intelligently meet that responsibility."

Two committees were appointed last night, one to draw up by-laws for the local organization and the other a nominating committee. Names for both committees were submitted by the entire group. On the by-laws committee are Mrs. David Boals, who is also temporary chairman of the group; Mrs. A. M. Colby and Mrs. Charles J. Brown. On the nominating committee are Mrs. W. J. Bishop, Mrs. J. Carville Gorman and Mrs. Robert R. Black.

The nominating committee was asked to prepare two slates of officers which will be voted on after the by-laws are drawn up and adopted at the next meeting which will be at 8 p. m. Jan. 8 at the Chamber of Commerce.

About 40 women attended the organization meeting last night. The women who registered were Mrs. Lilian A. Pauley Mrs. Sherman Glessner, Mrs. Carl Spangler, Miss Florence M. Ackerman, Mrs. Albert R. Bissman, Miss Edith J. Stuckey, Mrs. R. R. Black, Mrs. Russell E. Moore, Mrs. Herbert L. Rinehart, Mrs. Kenneth A. Hubbs, Mrs. E. F. Beal, Mrs. W. J. Bishop, Mrs. Marie L. Menchan, Mrs. J. A. Shearer, Mrs. G. M. Atkinson, Louise Chevallard, Mrs. A. M. Colby, Mrs. Charles J. Brown.

500 SHARE IN SAVINGS CLUBS

CRESTLINE—Nearly 500 members of the Christmas clubs of the two Crestline banks will receive checks totaling around $12,000, Dec. 1, representing their savings during the past year. This closes out the 1938-39 accounts and the new clubs will open Dec. 5 at both the First National and Farmers and Citizens State Banks.

The clubs are mostly of the 50 cent and $1.00 a week savings.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

HOLDS 3 TRUCKS OF TEXAS FIRM

State Detains Vehicles Here for Failure to Pay $180 in Ohio Utilities Tax.

Three trucks operated by a Magic City, Tex., firm were held in Mansfield today because of the failure of the owners to pay $180 in Ohio public utilities tax for interstate truckers.

Drivers of the trucks were detained by Charles F. Parshall, investigator for the public utilities commission, and Deputy Sheriff Glenn Freeman and instructed to leave the trucks at a North Main street parking lot pending payment of the tax.

The drivers were permitted to deliver their cargoes of carbon black to the Mansfield Tire and Rubber company.

Parshall said Texas has no reciprocal agreement with Ohio and owners of trucks for hire must pay the state tax to operate over Ohio highways. Operators of trucks from states co-operating with Ohio in interstate trucking need only to present their certificates of ownership and insurance, he said.

Parshall said no charge had been filed against the three drivers. They are Loy Henry and C. B. Scarborough of Oklahoma City, and Roy Scott of Gainesville, Tex.

ASKS BIGELOW SUIT DISMISSAL

Counsel for Defense Says Case Lacks Legal Grounds.

TOLEDO, —(U.P.)— Dismissal of the $250,000 liber suit filed here by Herbert S. Bigelow, Cincinnati, against a group of opponents of the Bigelow pension amendment, was asked in common pleas court here yesterday by Attorney Henry Middleton, representing the defendants.

The dismissal was asked on the ground that the suit has no legal standing, and the court was asked to sustain a demurrer, filed several days ago. Defendants in the suit are representatives of the Ohio Emergency committee which fought the Bigelow amendments in the recent election campaign and the Toledo and Ohio chambers of commerce and officials of those bodies.

Honor Couple At Christian Church

In celebration of their 10th year in the First Christian church of Mansfield Rev. and Mrs. B. F. Hagelbarger were surprised last night by more than 300 members and friends of the church with a dinner party held in the basement. The long tables were decorated with candles and flowers in fall shades, and a large cake with 10 candles and "10th anniversary" written on it was placed on the speakers table.

Emmet Izer served as toastmaster, and Mrs. Bruce Rogers sang "The Lord's Prayer." Group singing followed, after which a mock trial was presented emphasizing the work of Rev. Hagelbarger during the past 10 years. Those participating in the trial were Atty. H. G. Clark, M. D. Miller, J. M. Davis, and Rev. Hayes M. Braker. Rev. and Mrs. Braker were guests at the party. Earl Mann presented Rev. and Mrs. Hagelbarger with a personal gift of silver.

University Women Read Lines in Play Tryouts

Recently the Mansfield branch of the American Association of University Women has tried to set up a study program which would reach the interests of all members. One of the most recently formed groups, the drama group, was busy reading a play at the Women's Club last night when a News-Journal photographer dropped in. He snapped the informal pose of the above women as they were reading lines for Miss Edith Ross, chairman, shown at the extreme right. Others shown are (reading from left to right) Mrs. Gordon Colby, Miss Betty Ackerman and Mrs. Charles Kuntz.

Victorian Members Attend Session At Women's Club

MRS. PAUL CROPPER was hostess to 23 members and one guest, Mrs. Scott Coffin, of the Victorian club yesterday at the Women's Club. Miss Florence MacDonald read the paper on the Department of War which had been prepared by Dr. Adda Liffring. She explained the set-up of the different division and told their functions in time of peace and war.

She also told of the agencies which come under the jurisdiction of the department. A bouquet of pink, white and blue flowers centered the tea table over which Mrs. Charles Brown and Mrs. Carl Russell presided.
